BALANCE OF TRADE TO BE $800,000,000

1928 Will Be Almost Record Year, Import Decrease To Run $100,000,000

Washington Nov 30—Uncle Sam will sell about $800 000 000 more to the world than he buys this year from other countries

Statistics available at the commerce department today showed that 1928 has been one of the most successful foreign trade years in the peace time history of the country

Estimates place the exports at approximately $4 085 000 000 and imports at about $4 100 000 000 provided the present ratios are maintained through December which appears likely

The gain in exports has exceeded $115 000,000 over last year while the decrease in imports probably will run $100 000 000

The favorable balance of trade now indicated will be one of the largest on record with the exception of the $818 000 000 excess of exports in 1921 Exports this year, however, will surpass those of 1924 by approximately $400 000 000 disclosing tremendous strides in the country's foreign trade

WARN PROGRESS OF KING MUST BE SLOW

Official Bulletin Reports Improvement Today, Wales Speeding Homeward

London Nov 30—An official bulletin issued at Buckingham palace at noon today reported improvement in the condition of King George but warned that progress must be slow

The text of the bulletin follows

Inflammation of the lung and pleura shows some improvement Temperature was at a slightly lower level It must be noted that the time of possible exacerbation of infection has not yet passed and in any case, progress must be slow

A third physician Sir Humphry Rolleston one of the foremost doctors in England was called in for consultation before this bulletin was issued It was signed by all three of the practitioners Lord Dawson of Penn, Sir Stanley Hewitt and Sir Humphry

Notwithstanding the apparent improvement in King George's condition the Prince of Wales will use every means short of air travel to reach London as soon as possible It was indicated in an announcement issued today by the admiralty officer

Bonds issued by a school district should show on their face the legal name of the district issuing the bonds, Turner held.

GIL PLEDGES FRIENDSHIP TO UNITED STATES

Provisional President Takes Oath of Office in Mexico City

ADDRESSES 40,000

Constructive Program Announced, Stresses Sympathy for Labor

Mexico City, Nov 30—Provisional President Emilio Portes Gil, who took the oath of office today as successor to the retiring president Plutarco Elias Calles in his inaugural address pledged Mexico's friendship for the United States and hoped the present cordial relations would endure

Speaking in the national stadium before a crowd of 40 000, including the diplomatic corps the provisional president, who will assume office at midnight, paid tribute to the retiring president and American Ambassador Dwight W Morrow for their efforts in eliminating misunderstandings between Mexico and the United States

Senor Portes Gil departed from custom in making an inaugural speech He announced a constructive program stressing his sympathy for labor and the agrarian movement He hoped there would be a house cleaning in the government and appealed to Mexicans to show their patriotism to their native land rather than pledge their allegiance to any faction or political leader

Demands Economy

The new national executive followed a lead set by President Calles when he demanded strict economy in government expenditures He reflected another policy of the United States when he declared that Mexico does not covet the land of any other nation

The provisional president's address in part follows

The conditions under which I was designated for the presidency of the republic oblige me to meditate over the grave responsibilities that attend upon government

The effort realized for the benefit of labor not only does not prejudice industrial progress but assures better

NORTHCOTT ADMITS HE KILLED YOUTH

Makes Full Confession to Attorney Enroute Back to Southern California

Alonzo Northcott Prison Car, Bakersfield Cal Nov 30—Gordon Stewart Northcott early today made a full confession to Deputy District Attorney Earle Redwine of Riverside county that he killed and decapitated a Mexican youth at his Riverside chicken ranch on Jan 6 1928

In his confession, Northcott admitted he shot the Mexican youth eight times with his revolver and he declared that his youthful nephew Sanford Clark, shot the victim with a rifle

Northcott continued to deny that he killed Walter Collins and Nelson and Lewis Winslow, three youths who are thought to have lost their lives on the Riverside country ranch

Northcott is being brought to Southern California from Vancouver B C where he was arrested after fleeing from the United States to stand trial

TOLEDO GANGSTERS LOOT STORE SAFES

Jewelry Valued at $20,000 Taken from Furniture Company Vault

Toledo Nov 30—Police today searched Toledo's underworld for a gang or gangs of cracksmen who blew open safes in two stores here during the Thanksgiving holiday and escaped with loot estimated to be worth more than $21,800

A safe in the Home Furniture Co was blown open and diamonds, rings brooches and watches valued at $20 000 were taken while more than $1 800 in cash was obtained from the safe of the Salvation Army store here.

In the Salvation Army robbery, the men cleaned out the safe of everything but five packages of pennies

HEARING POSTPONED

State's Attorney Requests McManus Session Next Wednesday

New York, Nov. 30—The hearing of George A McManus, charged with the murder of Arnold Rothstein, Broadway gambler, today was postponed until next Wednesday by Judge Francis X. Mancuso of request of State's Attorney Joab Banton Banton said that the hearing of testimony in the case would probably be completed by the grand jury today or Monday at which time a blanket indictment would be issued against McManus, John Doe and Richard Roe. Jane Doe, the mysterious woman who had figured in the testimony, has been dropped from the case, Banton said, his attorney, James McManus, and his attorney, James D. C. Murray, appeared in court McManus was his usually quiet calm self.

CLEMENCY REFUSED, HOPPE'S END NEAR

Toledo Slayer of Child Will Die in Electric Chair Tonight

Columbus, Nov 30 — Executive clemency for Marion Stanley Hoppe, Toledo slayer of seven year old Dorothy Schlagowell was refused at the governor's office here today when the convicted man's wife and his brother Leo presented their plea

With this official decision on record officials at the state penitentiary completed arrangements for a double execution The second man whose life is to be snuffed out in the electric chair tonight is John Rucker, Cincinnati negro, who was found guilty of slaying a policeman

In making their final futile plea at the governor's office, Leo Hoppe declared that his brother had not received a fair trial "He charged that the lunacy commission of three physicians appointed by Governor Donahey and who examined his brother declaring him sane, did not report "what they actually found," and alleged that the accused man "was actually found to be insane"

Mrs Hoppe, a cousin to the little girl who paid with her life for the fiendish acts to which Hoppe confessed

FOUR SITES

Goodyear to Make Decision on Southern City in Few Days

Akron, Nov. 30 — Four southern cities have the "inside track" for the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co's new tire factory in the south, it was learned from reliable sources here today.

A decision as to where the factory will be located will be reached in the next few days, according to P. W. Litchfield, president of the Goodyear company. Consideration of Florida cities has narrowed to Chattanooga, Tenn, Atlanta, Ga. Macon, Ga. and Gladden, Ala. it was learned by International News Service.

The new factory will have a capacity of 5,000 tires a day and will be built at an approximate cost of $6,000,000, according to information from authentic sources. Construction will begin early in 1929.

PROPOSAL FOR CHEST FUND IS FAVORED HERE

Interviews Show Citizens Advocate Centralizing of Welfare Work

ACTION LIKELY

Community Chest Project Scheduled for Discussion at Conference Soon

Public opinion in favor of establishing a community chest fund in Marion appears to be gaining ground and promises to result in definite action in the near future

Inquiry made among representative civic leaders of the city today resulted in practically a unanimous expression of views favorable to the project and also disclosed that preliminary steps already under way may culminate in a community chest movement

It was stated that the subject will be thoroughly discussed at a conference to be held in the near future, probably next week Arguments for and against the chest idea are to be presented for the purpose of ascertaining all of the good and bad points of this method of financing community charity and welfare

Most Effective

The trend of opinion, as disclosed in interviews today, is that the plan of centering all local welfare funds under one head as is done in a community chest, is the most effective method because it eliminates duplications and promotes general efficiency

Success of community chests in other Ohio cities ranging from Cleveland down to places the size of Marion and smaller, has apparently contributed materially to increasing favorable sentiment here Reports show that last week's chest funds were oversubscribed in Cleveland, Akron Dayton, Elyria and Lima In these cities as well as all others where the plan has been worked out, it has been found much more satisfactory than Marion's present method of raising separate funds for various purposes, reports show

Last Year's Effort

Last year the community chest movement was tentatively launched here but died out, seemingly from lack of sponsorship Several local organizations, including the Elks and Eagles, indorsed the project at that time

Although no organization has been definitely designated as the one to head the proposed movement here, several citizens interviewed thought that it should be taken in charge by either the Marion Civic association or the Chamber of Commerce

Expression of opinion obtained in

Woodruff is the third former Marion man to be promoted by the Erie in recent months. John M. Conlon, former yardmaster here, is now general manager of the New York terminal division and St. C. Randall, also former local yardmaster, is an assistant to the superintendent at the New York terminal.

ROOSEVELT SPENDS BUSY THANKSGIVING

New York Governor-Elect Dedicates Enclosed Swimming Pool

Warm Springs Ga Nov. 30—"It was one of the happiest Thanksgivings in my life"

This was the way in which Governor-elect Franklin D Roosevelt of New York described the holiday today.

It was a full day for Roosevelt He dedicated a new enclosed swimming pool and then played left tackle on the water football game which followed He also spoke at a dinner in the evening

New York's future governor, radiating good health and cheer, gave the signal sending 50 infantile paralysis patients heading into the new pool the gift of Edsel Ford to the colony.

We have facilities here for some 60 patients now, said he, but next year we expect to have room for 80 more."

Roosevelt said he was "well able to take up my work in Albany," while Dr Leroy Hubbard, chief surgeon at the hospital here concurred.

"Roosevelt shows an enormous improvement and his physical condition is more than sufficient to carry out his duties of state successfully," said the surgeon.

THE illness of King George comes at an awkward moment for the merchants of London and other British cities Their buying for Christmas is done their money is spent Their selling is only beginning Should the king die the nation would go into mourning social events involving large expenditures and extensive purchases would be abandoned Merchants would suffer enormous loss

Many of them are insuring the king's life over the holiday season paying 31 per cent for the insurance

The king might issue a request that in the event of his death no mourning should be worn until after the new year

But that would not protect the merchants and nobody would tell the king that he is expected to die

SAVES THE DAY

THIS is another tale of a young heroine who "saved the day" when the happiness of all her little schoolmates depended on her quick thinking.

One day not long ago a certain little group of fifth grade students "put their heads together" and planned a farewell surprise in the form of a gift for School Superintendent Jesse H. Mason. They even went so far as to prime one of their comely little representatives to make a speech of presentation.

The stage was all set and a few days later Mr. Mason paid his eagerly anticipated farewell visit. Everything seemed according to schedule except for one important fact—teacher didn't happen to be in the room and dared they present their gift without her sanction and without her to share in the fun?

This was obviously being debated secretly by all the little youngsters in the room. This was undoubtedly Mr. Mason's last visit and they dared not lose their opportunity. So decided the little Miss who had been chosen to present the gift in behalf of her classmates, and, rising from her seat she trotted bravely up to teacher's desk, opened the little drawer in which she knew the precious gift to be concealed, extracted it and handed it to Mr. Mason, accompanying the presentation with as appropriate a little speech as statesman ever made.

The presentation was a great success and Mr. Mason quite as delighted with his gift as the youngsters had expected. And the best part of the whole story was—teacher didn't mind a bit.

IDEAL SETTING

CHRISTMAS is coming!

That's no joke. It's coming along a-galloping. Stores are displaying holly borders on their newspaper advertisements. Some call attention to their gift-layaway system while others tell you that "Toyland" is now open.

Always there is a joyous spirit about Christmas in all cities. But, it is more noticeable in some than in others.

A member of The Star staff happened through Richmond, Ind., during the holidays last year. There he found holly strung along electric light poles throughout the business district and entwined in the holly were red and green lights. Sounds sort of wordy, doesn't it? But, you should have seen it! What a Christmas atmosphere that decoration gave to Richmond. It sent shopping crowds along the streets with a renewed happiness and gaiety.

We don't know who was responsible for the decoration. Possibly some organization such as we have many of in Marion. A chamber of commerce, a junior chamber of commerce, a merchants' organization or maybe a luncheon club.

Why wouldn't that be the thing for Marion?

GOOD MEMORIES

ONE of the most unusual features of the stock company that is playing at the Grand and calling itself Marion's permanent company, is the remarkable memory exhibited by all members of the cast.

First-nighters at the plays presented so far by the company have been amazed at the few slips or cases of "forgetting." There would be plenty of excuse if the characters slipped up occasionally, but they don't. Instead, they seem to have their roles down "pat" and they know their stage business like it was written.

So far, the Myrtle Ross Players have lived up to all advance notices. And, now they are to do two plays a week, opening Sunday afternoon and Thursday night. That seems like a gigantic task—a small company doing 10 performances a week, two plays in the seven days and doing them well. Of course, the company has done the shows before, but nevertheless try it out on your own memory.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store. C. C. Ungericht.—Adv.

Hemorrhoids Disappear

All Pile Misery Banished Without Cutting or Salves

External treatments seldom banish Piles for the very good reason that the cause is inside—bad circulation in affected parts, veins are flabby and bowel walls weakened.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send fresh, healthy blood to the raw, sensitive membranes. Internal treatment is one safe method. Ointments and other external treatments can't give lasting relief.

J. S. Leonhardt, M. D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and it has proven successful in thousands of cases—so successful that now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists under a money back guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Heaney & Cooper, who will promptly refund the purchase price if you are dissatisfied.—Adv.

Prospect, Nov. 30—The Senior class, surprised, Daisy Thomas at her home Tuesday night. Games, contests, and music was the special feature of the evening. Mary Ann Porter was awarded contest honors. A set of book ends, was given Miss Thomas by the class. Refreshments were served to Mary Ann Porter, Elizabeth Beam, Nina Watkins, Elizabeth Beeny, Dorothy Pritchard, Dorothy Swain, Florence Lowry, Doris Faulkner, Shirley Evans, Herschel Hecker, Charles Downing, Harold Click, Donald Hedges, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Thomas and family, and John Parchall was a guest.

No man goes so far in his individualism as to have a special hat made different from those of others; but women do. They are the individualists.

Does his mother realize?

Considerate mothers will act at once.

Constipation will blunt the keenest intellect, and many a child is classed as "dull" through bowels failing to act regularly. They need mother's watchful care.

If your child is listless, dull and out-of-sorts, it means that the stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with constipated waste. Just give a dose of "California Fig Syrup," and soon all the sour bile and irritating poison are moved from the bowels, and the child is bright and energetic again. "California Fig Syrup" cleans and regulates the bowels, and insures pure blood, clear complexion, joyous spirits, a keen brain, healthy appetite and promotes sturdy growth.

To be sure that the Fig Syrup you buy is the genuine, look for the name "California" on the package.—Adv.

Daily Proverb—"Preparation for war is sometimes the best security for peace."

"Minneapolis Bandits Turn Back $20,000 Pay Roll Loot," reads a headline, but it isn't stated whether it was a case of conscience or bogus money.

It's our guess that the Hardin county man who raised 1,762 bushels of corn on ten acres this year didn't give much time to the voicing of demands for farm relief.

The Philadelphia authorities claim that gunmen have been imported into their city from Chicago to intimidate witnesses. Looks a lot like "carrying coals to Newcastle."

It may be taken for granted that the marriage of that Bellaire couple, the seventy-ninth anniversary of which was celebrated this week, was not of the companionate variety.

Between 15,000 and 20,000 poor New York families were supplied by well-to-do New Yorkers with turkeys and the other good things to make up a Thanksgiving dinner. Human nature is a little better than one may at some times be inclined to feel it is.

In the light of recent revelations, it's little wonder that General Smedley D. Butler didn't attain any marked success in putting the lid upon the City of Brotherly Love.

A report filed with the secretary of state of New York shows that the Democratic national committee received subscriptions and loans, aggregating $5,028,706. The political game has certainly become something of a luxury.

Government employes are being fingerprinted by the civil service commission "to keep out the crooks." And here we, in our innocence, have been imagining that no one stood a ghost of a chance to get in save patriots.

And now Dr. Hibben, president of Princeton university, is deploring the Coolidge navy plans and is distressed by the "challenge to the world with an aggressive attitude of superiority." Isn't it about time for apologists like Dr. Hibben and Bishop Brent to devote a little time polishing up their Americanism?

The Chicago youth, who made a practice, each time he left the city, of sending to a young woman up there a picture post card inscribed "Having a fine time. Wish you were here, love," probably got a lot of fun out of it till the young lady to whom they were addressed produced the cards in court and got a judgment for $2,500 for breach of promise.

Not a Pleasing Showing.

From Berlin comes the statement that the drys of Germany are alarmed over the marked increase in the consumption of hard liquor throughout the land. A statistical report, published late last week, is cited to show that the consumption of hard liquor in 1927 was 21,000,000 gallons, which means three pints for each man, woman and child in Germany against a consumption of two pints per capita in 1926. At the end of 1927, the same statistical report shows, there were 37,000 distilleries in operation in Germany, an increase of over 4,000 over the number of distilleries in operation in 1926.

German drys may well worry over such a showing, and the worrying should not stop with the German drys, but extend to every citizen of Germany of sufficient reasoning power to appreciate the situation. Germans, whether rightfully or wrongfully, have been looked on as drinkers of beer. If this is objectionable to Germans, let us put it that beer has long been the favorite beverage in Germany. For such a people to turn sufficiently in one year to raise the consumption of hard liquor a pint per capita can hardly be looked on with equanimity by any who have made a study of the liquor question. Even the most pronounced advocates of wetness in this country no longer champion hard liquor, but are advocating light wines and beer, and even they must be a bit disturbed and take as a bad sign a fifty per cent. increase in hard liquor consumption in Germany.

True, the German government revenue derived from the sale of spirits under the monopoly system amounted in 1927 to $58,000,000 on the sales for beverage purposes alone, but any revenue derived by a government from liquor sales is revenue dearly raised. The poorest excuse ever offered for the liquor business is that it helps pay the expenses of the government. For every dollar thus taken in the government is compelled to pay out from five to ten. As a means of raising revenue for the purpose of government, government participation in the profits of the liquor business is just about the greatest luxury ever, to say nothing of the loss of respect for any government thus sustained.

A Search for Scandal.

Telegraphic advices from Washington are to the effect that "thousands of dollars will be spent during the coming session of congress by the senate public lands committee in a search for scandal in the oil leases and contracts awarded by the Wilson administration" to operators in the Salt Creek field out in Wyoming; that witnesses will be summoned to Washington from all parts of the country, and that the committee will make at least one western trip, according to present plans, to take testimony in Denver, Colorado, and at Casper, Wyoming.

Practically the entire Salt Creek field is under lease to the Midland Refining company, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, the exceptions being a few small holdings in the names of certain Sinclair interests. It has been charged that these leases, under which the Midland company has been operating, and which have proved very valuable, were secured through dummy bidding or other methods held illegal.

No matter how much fraud or corruption may be developed, there is little chance that punishment can be meted out to any who may be implicated. The only possible legal use which could be made of a finding showing fraud or corruption would be its utilization as a groundwork for a proceeding, or proceedings, to cancel the leases. There is general agreement among legal experts in Washington that prosecutions are barred by the statute of limitations, for which, should fraud or corruption be developed, any implicated therein may thank the senate committee, which brought about the reducing of the statute of limitations on conspiracy to defraud the government, during the last session of congress, from six to three years to open the lips of a witness on whose testimony it was hoped to convict Harry F. Sinclair of conspiracy with Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, to loot the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve. Thus the questionable plan followed to bring about the conviction of Sinclair, who was acquitted, erects a bar to any criminal proceedings which might result from a finding of fraud or corruption in connection with the making of the Salt Creek leases.

If the senate public lands committee is determined to proceed "in a search for scandal," as stated in the Washington wire, we know of nothing to stop its activities in that direction, but the value of its finding, no matter what it may be, will hardly impress the public, as a senate committee finding might have impressed the popular mind a decade ago. We believe it will be rather generally admitted that senate investigations have lost tone in recent years. The feeling that some of the methods pursued by the Teapot Dome committee were questionable has been fortified by court decision. There is little question but what it went beyond its powers and in some respects acted illegally. It was charged in some quarters, notably by the defense, that Sinclair was being persecuted rather than prosecuted, and there was also a feeling that the proceedings were not without a political angle.

It is hardly probable that the feeling will be much different in the present investigation, no matter what the outcome may be. Unless we are much mistaken, the Salt Creek field is no longer rich in oil. The cream of it has been pretty well skimmed. By the time the leases could be cancelled, should a showing be developed justifying their cancellation, it will have been pretty thoroughly exhausted. That's the business end of the proposition.

Now to the other phase.

Should the committee find that there has been neither fraud nor corruption as has been charged, the reaction of a part of the public, at least, such is the discredit into which senate investigations have fallen, will be that it is a whitewash. Should the committee find that there has been fraud or corruption, another part of the public will look upon it as an attempt to besmirch the administration of the late President Wilson, just as an attempt was made to besmirch the Harding administration, through the Teapot Dome investigation and, during the recent campaign, to besmirch the Coolidge administration and the Republican candidate for president through the finding in the Teapot Dome case.

The best indication of the feeling of the public in the matter may be had in the vote given Mr. Coolidge four years ago and the unprecedented vote given this year to Herbert Hoover.

Why "search for scandal" in the administration of another president dead and gone?

All the recent worry about the possible successor of General William Bramwell Booth as commander of the Salvation army seems to have been unnecessary. The general has been declared out of danger.

Bishop Cannon says Mr. Raskob defeated Governor Smith. The Democratic campaign manager may have been a weighty factor, but we can not avoid the conclusion that the real reason for the governor's defeat was and is that there are more drys than wets in the country.

How people can be fooled! All along Mayor Bill Hale Thompson assumed that British propaganda was the chief thing the matter with the Chicago schools and now it has developed that the real trouble was a deficit.

France has declined to honor a requisition for H. M. Blackmer, absent Teapot Dome witness, on the ground that his offense was "primarily political." The French government, it is manifest, has acquainted itself with the facts in the case.

A Chicago woman is seeking a divorce from her husband on the ground that he sleeps so soundly in the morning that she is unable to awaken him even with the assistance of twelve alarm clocks. Who ever would imagine a man with a conscience like that in Chicago?

ONE TURKEY THAT DIDN'T GET THE AX.

Hardened Arteries.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

I had in my mail a letter from a lady in Pennsylvania. She asks me three question, about hardening of the arteries, sleeplessness and nettles. I assume that this lady is suffering from all these symptoms. She may regard them as three separate and distinct ailments. As a matter of fact, all of them might be due to the same cause.

Hardening of the arteries can not be regarded as a disease. It is merely one of the symptoms of a manner of living which has not been entirely proper. Carelessness about the eating, neglect of the bowels, failure of elimination by the kidneys—these are other symptoms resulting from the manner of living which is responsible for the trouble with the arteries.

If we were to live close to Nature, keeping all of Nature's rules, I suppose we might live on for a hundred years or more, possessing all the functions and capable of all the activities of youth. The very fact that we do not live to such an age, and in advanced age do not possess such health as I have indicated, is our own fault or the fault of our parents.

The system must have an ample supply of the various substances which are used in the tissues of the body. Not alone must it have an ample supply, but it must not have an oversupply. If too much of a given mineral is constantly fed, there may be a deposit of the surplus in some part of the body. In this way the artery walls may be overcrowded with the mineral supply.

If the intestinal tract is not properly cleansed, there is decomposition of the fecal substance. Poisons are developed and these are carried by the blood stream to every part of the body. Some of these poisons may be stimulants which excite the brain and interfere with sleep.

Nine times out of ten persons who suffer from sleeplessness are constipated. There is no relief for the sleeplessness until the constipation is overcome.

Poisons developed in the body either in the intestinal tract, or in the tonsils, or the teeth, or the gall bladder, may be carried to the nervous system. As the result, there may be an inflammation in the nerve. This is called "neuritis."

To avoid hardening of the arteries and sleeplessness, and nettles and headache, it is important to have free elimination from the intestines and kidneys. It is important to make sure there are no centers of infection. It is important to live in such a way as to get a right amount of good food, fresh air, sunlight and exercise.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

A. R. Q—What will relieve the pain caused by gall stones? What will clear up the condition? How long can a patient suffering from gall stones live?

A—Application of heat and corrective diet should bring about increased comfort. Careful diet and general care, such as avoidance of constipation, proper exercise, etc., should all bring about results. Individually. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

J. C. Q—Will the removal of diseased tonsils restore or improve the hearing?

A—Yes, in some instances.

X. Y. Q—Would you advise the immediate removal of a lump in the breast? The patient is a woman of fifty years of age. Is this condition always cancerous or is there a possibility of something less serious? Would such a condition be apt to be brought on by violent continuous work or exercise?

A—Yes. Such conditions are not necessarily of a cancerous nature, but a growth of any kind should always have careful medical attention. No.

W. F. W. Q—What causes the back of my head and neck to ache?

A—Very often indigestion will produce this symptom. The diet should be corrected and attention given to the proper elimination of the intestinal tract. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

H. L. M. Q—What causes night sweats and what is the best remedy?

2—Would decayed teeth be responsible in any way?

3—What causes water on the knee?

A—May be due to weakness, a run-down system, nervousness or a possible lung condition. Examination will determine the necessary treatment.

2—The decayed teeth may be causing infection in your system and this in turn would undermine the general health. The teeth should have attention.

3—Usually due to some injury. Should have a doctor's attention.

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medicinal, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Where the subject of a letter is such that it can not be published in this column Dr. Copeland will, when the question is a proper one, write you personally if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. Royal S. Copeland, in care of this paper.

Editorial Opinion.

SCHEER OF JUTLAND.

Admiral Reinhard Scheer, who died in Germany yesterday, will always be acclaimed by his countrymen as commander of the High Seas fleet who, by skillful manoeuvring, saved it from destruction at Skagerrack—Jutland—and inflicted heavy losses on the British Grand fleet. Admiral Scheer withdrew in the night to the German base without incurring a second action that could have resulted only in the overwhelming defeat of his fleet. The peculiarity of Jutland was that victory rested with neither side. The Germans did, indeed, claim the victory on the strength of having tactically prevented the closing in of a more powerful British fleet and of sending fourteen enemy ships to the bottom with a loss of 6,274 officers and men, as compared with eleven German ships sunk and 2,545 officers and men lost. That Admiral Scheer's fleet fought a better action with an inferior force can hardly be disputed, but victory the Germans could not call an issue which left the Grand fleet in control of the waters from which its enemy had fled.

Indecisive as Jutland proved to be, inglorious as it was for the British navy, the Germans learned that they could not hope to destroy British sea power with a fleet weaker in the battle line by many units. Admiral Scheer left the Heligoland bight but once after Jutland, on August 19, 1916, when warned by airship reconnoissance that the Grand fleet was coming out in force to meet him, he returned to his base. In November, 1918, he ordered the High Seas fleet to sea "to break the blockade," but the mutinous outbreak at Wilhelmshaven made the order appear only a gesture.

British pride was cut to the quick by loss of the opportunity to make an end of the German fleet at Jutland. It was lost, first by failure to effect a concentration of units in the indicated battle area, and secondly by Admiral Jellicoe's unwillingness to disregard his orders for the security of his fleet. Strict constructionists will always uphold him. He was not to risk a night action. Commander van Hise in "Kiel and Jutland" declares that Jellicoe was right in not seeking a renewal of the battle after dark on May 31. He says: "The English fleet, by remaining a 'fleet in being,' by its mere continued existence, has so far fully fulfilled its allotted task." But there were critics, like Lord Sydenham, who were inconsolable. He says:

"A shattering victory off Jutland would have altered the whole course of the war, enabling us to seal the exits of the U-boats and to enter the Baltic, while creating profound discouragement in place of exaltation in Germany. Such a victory might have been won, but the new naval psychology made it impossible."

The controversy will be interminable. There will never be agreement about what actually occurred in the confusion and excitement of battle. But the fame of Admiral Scheer is secure. In the hands of a man less brave, alert resourceful and resolute the High Seas fleet would have been surrounded and sunk.—New York Times, November 27.

How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings, that publisheth peace; that bringeth good tidings of good, that publisheth salvation, that saith unto Zion, Thy God reigneth! — Isaiah 52:7.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Nov. 30—Thoughts while strolling: Curb loafers who take sailor tugs at their waistbands, deep drags at cigarets and await the "breaks." Mrs. Park Benjamin, the society lady, who "exposed" the night clubs. Those nut brown maids with pasted-on eye lashes. Eddie Peabody, another west coast jazz king.

John D., Jr., taking his daily quantum—care for quantum?—of sunshine. "Absinthe green" seems the rage color. Frederick Irving Anderson, the writer. The flood of baby blue roadsters. Whatever became of the Vassar Daisy chain? Hats that stress coyness. Bob Davis and his camera. Laurence Cassidy, the lawyer.

A sale of orchid suspenders. Yoo hoo! The gown shop of Natacha Rambova, Valentino's widow, on west Fifty-Fifth street. A window display of iceless cocktail shakers—they use chemicals. Something arty about a smock, no matter who wears it. Harold Ross, an Aspen, Colorado, boy who made good in the city.

Lanky, long-hipped girls with long strides and open-mouthed adenoidal expressions. The only Rolls-Royce taxi in town—in front of the Plaza. The black-mustached boys with rakish side dips to their hats and shawl-like mufflers. Harrison Fisher's snow-white hair. And youthful ewing.

The wave of cussing dramas. All packed. Willard Mack who seems to write a play a day. And gets them produced, too. Cossack doormen. Hotels that feature Pompeiian pools and "personal masseurs." Italian cafes run by "retired opera singers." Who still try to crack a high C for the trade.

The honk of Central Park geese. A sale of long-legged Paris dolls like suckers buy in gyp cafes. That layer of sad grayness that comes before dusk. And the chill that blows up from the harbor. Those ladies with modulated voices who carry away all the cash at bridge.

Rouge-dabbing and mirror-peeking flappers who wait in movie entrances for boy friends. The burly Broadwayite with a fog horn voice who designs gowns. Will Edrington, who built Earl Carroll's theater. New York blossoms into night, light by light. A salvation band sound the Angelus.

Montreal, a sleeper jump from Forty-Second street, increases in popularity as a week-end playground. Many journey by motor, but every train is also packed. Montreal has everything to produce the pollliwoggles, but the appeal is not so much in its liquor as its quaint foreign atmosphere. There are sections where French alone is spoken and other sections featuring the Scotch burr and broad "a" of Picadilly. The city has more than a million population and 750,000 are French. Several tony hotels have recently opened, and Christmas reservations are said to be just dandy.

A Broadway show girl in a hospital needed blood transfusion. Some hand-picked stage beauties promptly responded, which was splendid. But the chivalry soured when they appeared next day in the tabloids with doctors extracting their gallant blood for the "sacrifice." Press agentry killing bottom.

Since a few members of the so-called intelligentzia were twitted for log rolling it is now the custom for them to mock the artistic efforts of their guild and thus thumb their nose at sniffers. Today I read there never was such a thing as an "Algonquin group"—you know, with a high-pitched ha, ha, just "newspaper talk."

It is rather definitely established that New York success requires methodical living. A survey of 100 eminent men here reveals there is not one who does not arise before 7 in the morning and save on very special occasions retires before 11 p. m. There goes my career!

The Gorilla.

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.

The gorilla's jaws tell his story and reveal his nature. There Lavater's science or physiognomy makes no mistake. The gorilla is a feeder, and not a "sadique." A French explorer, Guy Babault, acquits the gorilla, on the evidence of African tribesmen living in the Beringe country, of any other motive in attacking human beings than that of hunger or brute anger.

"Their encounter with the natives," he says in La Nature, "is often the prelude to a rapid drama. A few days before my arrival in their country gorillas had torn to pieces four native women, whose remains were found scattered among the bushes where they had encountered the anthropoids."

Babault's account of the ways of the gorilla strikingly recalls what Paul du Chaillu told of them more than sixty years ago. He says:

"It seems to be generally the strongest male of a troupe who advances toward the enemy, offering himself for single combat by provoking the adversary with raucous and piercing cries and by striking on his breast, from below upward, producing a noise that causes the echoes of the forest to resound in a particular way, which the natives recognize as the worst of dangers."

Wiseacres who put theories above fact used to laugh at the similar descriptions given by Du Chaillu. Even men who call themselves scientists are not free from the habit of generalizing on insufficient evidence.

Babault adds that in case the leader of such an attack succeeds, new cries attract the rest of the band of gorillas, who stone—lapide—the inferior enemy. This alleged use of stones as weapons is another point on which there has been dispute.

The animals live in groups varying in number from three or four to more than twenty. They make their "randonnees" around a central point, where they often build a sort of nest, or more correctly, platform made by combining the branches of trees.

Their raids may extend to considerable distance, and in places frequented by them they leave passages that facilitate penetration of the forest. Their ordinary food consists mainly of fruits, leaves, and the bark of certain trees. The struggle for existence makes them redoubtable enemies for tribes living around the borders of the forest, where they sometimes commit depredations. One adult male killed by Babault measured over six feet in total length and five and a quarter feet around the chest. Approximate weight, 618 pounds—of course; what are those jaws for?

Babault reports that the Beringe gorilla is located in certain parts of the forests covering the mountains on the west shore of the lake of Kivu, at an altitude of about 2,000 metres. They are found at the same elevation on the volcanic mountains to the northeast and particularly on the Mikeno, where they are very numerous. They are also met with in the mountains southwest of Lake Edward.—Copyright, 1928, International Feature Service, Inc.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Friends or foes say Massachusetts is wet. It is said that thousands of Bay state folk think wet, hope wet, and vote wet. But this same state is very rough on tipsy auto drivers. A drunken driver is swept into jail pretty quickly. A motorist found driving his car "under the influence" loses his license, and he has to wait a year before he can even apply for another. Whatever we may think of prohibition the use of liquor has some very practical aspects.

A speaker of note at a parent-teacher convention makes the charge that the public schools are better adapted to girls than to boys. She finds it much harder to keep the nose of the boy on the grindstone of education. Perhaps this charge is of questionable merit. The school system today is doubtless better than ever before in the history of the republic. Teachers today are better. Boys and girls are just as smart or smarter. It is so much a matter of individual handling, or earnest application, of home habits, that it is hardly just to charge the school system with not being well adapted to boys.

The speaker, Mrs. Cornelia James Cannon, by the way, concludes with a significant word about the problem we all face. She says:

"It is a new changed world that our children are coming into, and I am afraid that we are not very good leaders because we ourselves have the greatest difficulty in sensing their new environment. Our temptation is great to think too highly and too often of the 'good old days.' But we are here to fight senility in ourselves, in civilization and, I suspect, in the school system."

Virginia opened three bridges which have wondrous historical as well as modern, practical significance. The famous Virginia peninsula, where the traveler finds the site of ancient Jamestown, settled in 1607, and Williamsburg, the colonial capital, and Yorktown where Cornwallis surrendered, is connected with Norfolk and Portsmouth. Those who love to hunt for history along old roads and new will be delighted.

A retired business man, sixty-four years old, dropped dead while playing golf. A little exercise is a good thing for young and middle-aged people. Older folks ought to make little physical effort unless they are sure they have unusually good bodies. OLIDGE MAY GO IN OR QUAIL SHOOTING rest of Executive Aroused by Reports from Col. E. W. Starling

annona Country Club, Va., Nov. President Coolidge may desert inanimate clay pigeons for very ail today as fair game for the shot ejected from his trusty ge shotgun.

possibility arose, at least, as executive and Mrs. Coolidge of the third day of their half-vacation in the Blue Ridge country re at Swannanoa Country club. interest has been aroused by Col. Starling, assistant chief of the House secret service.

e day before you arrived, I a dozen quail on the grounds," ing told the president last night. ing was the "advance man" for arty. "And I know a spot within minutes of here where we ought ke up another covey," he added. hat so?" queried Coolidge. ho I'll try it."

far, in all his life, the president has confined his marksmanship pasteboard targets and clay ons. He took up trap shooting ng way this summer in Wisconsin and became so proficient that few skilled out without being shat-. Yesterday, he tried his hand he sport after a lapse of several months, and succeeded in breaking only 17 out of 25.

Mrs. Coolidge meanwhile, kept anxiously in touch with Washington, where Mrs. Frank W. Stearns, one of her closest friends, lay desperately ill in the White House. The Stearnses were to have accompanied the Coolidges to Virginia, but what was described as a severe cold kept Mrs. Stearns in bed. Col. James F. Coupal, the president's physician, remained behind to treat her, and last night word was sent here that five doctors, including two specialists from Johns Hopkins university, had been called in for consultation.

BIGGEST AUTO YEAR AHEAD, SAYS SLOAN

General Motors Head Sees No Influence Tending To Reduce Trend of Activity

passed, in volume, steel and steel products, the next largest industry.

"The importance of the automotive industry to the prosperity of the country is apparent," said the General Motors chief executive, leaning forward on his desk. "It has passed steel. The wealth produced annually through the production of motor cars and the use of cars is approximately equivalent to the wealth produced yearly through the process of agriculture. This makes the automotive industry just as big as agriculture!

Product Wanted Widely

"I estimate that 10 per cent of the people of the United States are dependent, directly or indirectly, on the automotive industry for their purchasing power. That means that 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 people are dependent, directly or indirectly, on the automotive industry for their livelihood."

Mr. Sloan leaned back. He gazed out upon the towering structures of Broadway reflectively. His thoughts were interrupted by a long distance call. Then by another. Several important executives interrupted the interview to discuss a business matter. Stenographers and private secretaries came in and quietly laid papers, containing masses of figures, upon his desk. Obviously, in directing General Motors he is a very busy man.

"To what do you attribute the amazing development of General Motors?" he was asked.

His fine, rather heavily lined face took on an thoughtful expression.

"First of all, we have a product that everybody fundamentally wants," he replied.

"General Motors, as virtually every one knows, manufactures a variety of the best known motor cars produced in America. It has plants in more than 50 cities here and overseas. It has more than 18,000 dealers in 103 countries. It has nearly 60,000 stockholders.

Democracy in Business

"The measure of success of any institution or business depends first on having a fundamental demand," Mr. Sloan continued. "Second, it must have a reasonable amount of capital. And third, there must be proper management—that is, constructive management."

General Motors is an example in a big way of "democracy in business," he declared. He amplified this statement thus:

"I mean by that that no autocratic decisions are made on any question of policy or procedure. The policy is to get the best thought from the entire organization as to what should and should not be done. Any and all persons who can contribute to the welfare of the organization are welcome to express their opinion. We are more concerned in getting the best solution than from whom the solution may come. In that way we have the advantage of the viewpoints of many trained minds rather than being dependent upon one individual."

Mr. Sloan modestly remarked at this juncture that "there is no genius in the management of our corporation." However, his associates are quick to attribute to their president the qualities that make for a business genius. They say he is eminently fair, an indomitable worker, a splendid organizer and the ideal type of executive to coordinate and crystallize the corporation's policies.

Never "Issues Orders"

General Motors has about 100 executives and 210,000 employes, Mr. Sloan said. As chief executive of this great organization Sloan "never issues orders." He "confers" and decides. He declares frankly that the organization has become so large and far-flung that it could not be conducted successfully if any one man sought to impose his will arbitrarily upon everybody else.

"I believe," Mr. Sloan said, "that there is some thought along the direction that the great industrial institutions this country is developing—that is, big business—tends to prevent the development of the initiative of the individual.

"This is not true in the case of General Motors. Our administrative policy is to place the responsibility squarely on the individual for operating the various units that comprise the organization. These individual executives have equal or more opportunity to exercise their initiative than have the directing heads of the usual small business concern."

(Editor's note.—Tomorrow Mr. Sloan will discuss the foreign markets for automobiles in another article.)

W. H. MORTEN, 56, DIES OF APOPLEXY

Succumbs After Illness of 10 Days; Burial at Waldo

William Hurdes Morten, 56, contractor-carpenter, died at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday night at his home, 287 Nye st., after having been ill 10 days. Apoplexy was given as the cause of death.

Funeral services at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at his late home will be followed by burial in Waldo cemetery.

Mr. Morten was born at Waldo Dec. 16, 1872, the son of John D. and Rachel Morten, both natives of Marion county. His father is living. Mr. Morten and his widow, Mrs. Jessie D. Morten, were married Dec. 8, 1898, in this city.

Surviving him with Mrs. Morten are four daughters, Mrs. Hazeld B. Free, of Shelby, Mrs. Clifford A. Smith, of Bellefontaine, Mrs. Russell Bumgarner, 287 Chestnut st., and Mrs. David Reynolds, at home, a sister, Mrs. Elmer E. Mayfield, Fairview av., and a brother, Edward E. Morten, Clinton st.

ELECTRICITY A servant for EVERYBODY'S COMFORT

By the end of 1928 the electric light and power companies of this country will be serving nine million additional homes—almost as many as the total of those which enjoyed electrical service in 1921—and industry's consumption of power will have been increased by twenty-four billion kilowatt hours.

FRIENDSHIP TO U. S. IS PLEDGED BY GIL

general conditions, greater production and the industrial development of the country; it assures, furthermore, the intellectual and economic progress of laborers and their organizations.

"Also, it is imperative that we continue allocating lands to the country folk in order to create a free and prosperous rural class.

"I wish my government to be made up of the best prepared element possible.

"Men who know only how to be loyal to their leaders should be replaced by men who know how to be loyal to their country. Members of the government should be men who adhere to politics rather than men. I shall require also as indispensable that my colleagues dedicate themselves exclusively to the service of their country."

"Above all, the government, while in my charge, will base its domestic reputation in prudent administration of public monies," said Gil. "Balancing the budget will be an immutable part of the financial policy of my administration. That assures development of the government's program and fulfillment of international and internal obligations.

Little to Add

"In our foreign relations there is little new to add. Through more than 100 years of independent life, Mexico has given absolute respect to the peoples and governments of other countries. This respect has not limited itself to a firm stand against arrogant superiority or in combating imperialistic ambitions.

"Our government has generously permitted foreigners to come among us to share the advantages of our territory. We have invited cooperation from the outside, whether this took the form of persons to complement our scanty population or those things that serve to aid our technical deficiencies or capital to increase production from our virgin soil.

"Let it be known that my country has no desire nor aspiration to advance beyond its frontiers, except when the excellence of its intellectual attainments or its manufactured products merit the worthy and voluntary acceptance in other countries.

No Customs Barriers

"Our conception of what should be a free market will not lead us to interpose customs barriers which would impede competition for those articles which our climate or our imperfect machinery do not permit us to produce.

"In our foreign policy, for reasons of proximity, and for numerous economic reasons that unite us with the United States, a special mention is merited.

"Fortunately the wisdom and patriotism with which President Calles and Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow have served their respective countries have erased suspicions and brought the two neighboring peoples to the good understanding that now exists and which with all my heart, I hope will endure.

"Should there be in the American government an equal desire to protect our sovereignty—something which Mexico cannot retrograde from nor concede, whatever be the magnitude of the sacrifices necessary for sustaining it—the American people will have no ground for complaint against their neighbor to the south."

Dust and mud are in streets, and trucks rushing through them are dangerous for the children. For the present that can't be helped.

It will interest future generations to know that the first playground on the roof, in New York City's richest street, was built for chow dogs.

WORKERS in Rhode Island textile mills have declared a strike, and the union authorizes it.

Unfortunately, what textile workers and New England need is something that no strike will bring about—namely, a restoration of New England's textile industry.

Some years ago the late Mr. Duke, whose millions are spent in the south, and whose ambition was to build up southern industry, said: "I will break every rough cotton mill in New England." A northern cotton mill owner said: "It isn't that he WILL do it, he has done it already."

New England's problem is to compete with cheap power, abundant land, fine climate and freedom from labor troubles in the south—a powerful combination.

Better Than Any Diet

SAY less attention to what you eat; not one person in a thousand need diet; or over really has indigestion. Acidity, flatulence and heartburn are caused by excess stomach acid and food fermentation.

Following a hasty lunch, or too hearty a dinner, a little "Pape's Diapepsin," instantly neutralizes excess acidity, stops that fermentation, and soothes and heals the acid-inflamed stomach lining as if by magic. Your recovery is quick, and complete. Make a special point of getting a 60-cent package of "Pape's Diapepsin" from your druggist today, and so follow the example of millions all over the world who use "Pape's Diapepsin" to end indigestion and allied stomach troubles.

With "Pape's Diapepsin" handy you can eat and enjoy whatever you fancy without fear of pain or discomfort to follow. At any rate, it's worth the trial, for lots of folks have found new freedom at the table.

COMMUNITY CHEST IS FAVORED HERE

L. D. Zachman, cashier National City Bank & Trust Co.—"I favor the community chest to replace the various separate campaigns for funds, which are becoming increasingly difficult as time goes on. By grouping the funds, properly handled by a representative board of trustees or some other governing body, it should be possible to get support from all citizens. I believe that the Chamber of Commerce or Marion Civic association could launch the movement."

Charles E. Merkel, president of the Marion Savings Bank—"The community chest plan is the best for all concerned. Under the present plan in Marion there are too many duplications of effort and expenditure of money. It would also eliminate 'Professional' charity seekers. Sponsorship of the movement could be taken in charge by the Marion Civic association."

F. C. Gegenheimer, insurance agent and president of the Marion board of education—"Although I am not thoroughly acquainted with all details of the community chest plan, the information that I have leads me to believe that it is the best available. I understand that one board would have control of all expenditures and this should serve to promote efficiency and eliminate duplications."

A. A. Van Atta, hardware dealer—"Although I have partially formed an opinion regarding the advisability of a community chest for Marion, I am not prepared to take a definite stand. The question is now under consideration and will be taken up at a conference soon, probably next week, when it will be thoroughly discussed, pro and con."

R. T. Lewis, realtor, president of Marion Real Estate Board—"I have been reading reports in the newspapers regarding community chests in other cities which convince me that the idea is steadily growing in favor and is working out successfully. Any civic work is certain to be handled best when all citizens are back of it and that is the main point in favor of the community chest. I believe that the plan should be adopted in Marion."

F. A. Huntz, former president Marion Steam Shovel Co. — "The community chest plan seems to have been very successful in a number of cities, while in other places it has not been so popular. I would not be opposed to its adoption here."

J. F. Prendergast, president of the Prendergast Lumber Co., "I favor the community chest plan. Cleveland, where the plan has been in operation for a number of years, has just oversubscribed a drive for $4,505,000. The plans seem to be very successful there. Should it be adopted here it might be well to study the system in operation there before outlining an organization for Marion."

Rev. Herbert F. Wetzmueller, president of the Marion County Ministerial association, "The county ministerial association would be heartily in favor of the adoption of a community chest for the city. At various times members of the association have informally discussed the community chest idea and it seems to be the general opinion of the pastors that its adoption here would be a great benefit. I favor it personally because I believe it could be made to prevent a good deal of duplication of assistance. With the various charitable organizations co-operating through the community chest, duplication could be prevented by adopting a clearing house idea."

C. E. Heaney, druggist—"A community chest would be more effective and economical than our present methods of obtaining and distributing funds for charitable purposes and it would also avoid any exploitation of Marion citizens by charitable organizations headed by people from out-of-town."

Charles M. Tobin, city relief and sanitary inspector—"I would be heartily in favor of a community chest if it were properly handled so that charitable work in the city would be systematized. The work would have to be under the control of a small board, not more than three to five persons, so that investigation could be carried on rapidly and efficiently and worthy cases aided immediately. Clothing, for instance, might be gathered at one station and distributed from that place only with all clothes arranged according to sizes."

Samuel H. Keller, city clerk—I should consider a community chest a good thing for two reasons: first all charitable work would then be done under one head and it would be possible to check up and determine beyond doubt the worthiness of each case before aid was given; and second, those of us who wish to give to charity would then know just whom to give to in order to be sure that worthy persons would receive our money."

B. R. Prichard, secretary of the Marion Building Savings & Loan Co., and chairman of the Marion County Red Cross chapter, "In this day when every business is seeking more efficient methods of operation it is only natural that charitable organizations should seek such an efficient method of obtaining funds as a community chest would prove to be. Instead of many drives there would then be only one drive."

George Whysall, manager of the Marion Water Co., president-elect of the Marion Chamber of Commerce, and president of the Marion Auto club—"A community chest would save time and trouble for those people who always do the work in any drive of a charitable nature. As it is, it is difficult to organize workers because there are so many drives. With only one drive a year, it would be an easy task to get a corps of workers together."

Earl T. Smart, shoe merchant, "A community chest would be a good thing because we would thereby have a center for distribution and in that way duplications would be avoided."

James W. Thompson, chief of police—"A community chest would obtain more funds than are obtained by all the organizations today because people would not be bothered so often and would be more willing to give."

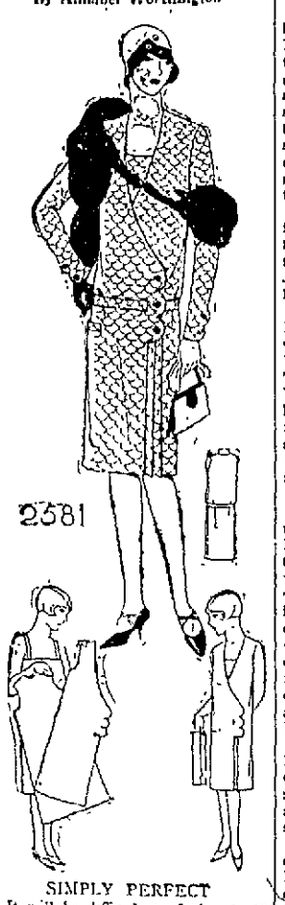

OHIO POTTERY COMPANIES WILL FORM CORPORATION

Cleveland, Nov. 30—Details of a proposed $25,000,000 merger of 20 independent eastern Ohio pottery manufacturers were still unannounced today but men prominent in the industry admitted that an announcement would be forthcoming from Chicago within a few days.

The proposed merger, which will include plants in 10 Ohio cities, leave but one strong independent company to compete for business and is expected to be the most powerful corporation in the pottery industry.

SIMPLY PERFECT

It will be difficult to find a more becoming dress for general utility wear than Style No. 2381. Its lines are trim, slender and straight, with scalloped closing of surplice bodice, securing a flat line through the hips. The scalloped treatment is repeated in sleeves to give a fitted cuff effect. A plaited section inserted in skirt, supplies necessary fulness and flare to hemline. Narrow belt slips through bound opening under scalloped closing, which is exceedingly chic. Its unbelievably easy to make. Practically only side and shoulder seams to join. It's an opportunity to have a stunning dress of sheer tweed, sheer printed velvet, patterned jersey, wool crepe, flat silk crepe or crepe satin, at a very small outlay. Pattern can be had in sizes 14, 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust. Price 15 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred). Our patterns are made by the leading Fashion Designers of New York City and are guaranteed to fit perfectly. In ordering pattern, why not enclose 10 cents additional for copy of our new Fashion Magazine. It shows the most attractive Fall and Winter styles.

WORLD CRUISES TO BRING JAPAN MANY

Four Tours Will Take 1,600 Persons to Land of Nipponese

Tokio, Nov. 30—Four round-the-world cruises will bring nearly 1600 tourists to Japan during the coming winter according to figures given out by the Japan Tourist bureau. Ten days, the average length of time spent by the cruises on Japanese soil, is the longest period allotted to any country on the complete circuit of the globe.

First to arrive will be the Belgenland, largest ship to make the round-the-world cruise, which will reach Yokohama on January 23. It will be the fourth time the great liner has visited Japan, and this year it will be under the combined auspices of the Red Star Line and the American Express company, the former taking care of all arrangements at sea and the latter of all land trips. She is expected to bring the largest passenger list of the year, between 400 and 450 persons.

Stay a Week

The Belgenland will spend a week in Yokahama her passengers visiting Kamakura, Tokio and Nikko, but returning each night to the ship. A two-day trip to Miyanoshita is optional and must be made at the passenger's additional expense. During the time the cruises are in port the department stores of Tokio will provide special entertainments for tourists and take an active share in the hospitality extended to them.

Leaving Yokohama on January 28, the ship will spend three days in Kobe from whence excursions will be made to Kyoto and Nara. The last stop in Japan is Miyajima, where only a few hours will be spent.

In March comes the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Australia, which was for many years on the Vancouver-Yokohama, Hongkong run. This cruise stops first at the Beppu Hot Springs, then at Kobe, and lastly at Yokohama. At the latter place the passengers take the same trips as those of the Belgenland except that the C. P. R. allows the ship to spend a night each at Kyoto and Nikko.

Unusual Trip

A more unusual and extensive trip is taken by the last two boats the Hamburg Amerika liner Resolute and the Cunarder Franconia, both of which stop at Keelung at Formosa and Chemulpo in Korea before coming to Japan proper. The Resolute, chartered by the Raymond-Whitcomb company, has been making the world circuit since 1923 and is one of the most popular of the cruises. The present tour is an excellent one, as few average tourists ever reach either Formosa or Korea.

The Franconia is being run jointly by the Cunard Line and Thomas Cook & Son, the latter conducting the shore trips. Her passengers are also allowed to spend the night in Kyoto and Nikko or Miyanoshita.

Since the first round the-world cruises in 1922 by the Franconia and Empress of France, the idea has become increasingly popular for winter travel.

STUDENT ASSASSINATED

Prague, Czechoslovakia, Nov. 30—A Macedonian student named Bebi was assassinated in the court room today when he was arraigned on the charge of murdering Cenz Bey, Albanian minister to Czechoslovakia. Bebi was shot by Ziu Vucitern, former servant to Bey. An Italian journalist, Del Vicsio, was wounded. The whole court room was thrown into panic. Vucitern was arrested.

DISTRICT MEETINGS AT LOCAL CHURCHES

40 Cities Represented at Epworth League Assemblies Today

an entertainment, "A Dream That Came True," presented in pictures and cartoons by the Rev. C. A. Bowers.

The mystery hour at 4:50 was followed by closing services and benediction and a banquet and friendship hour at 6:15.

Miss Ruth Lyons will conduct an old-fashioned party tonight and prizes will be awarded the leagues whose booths were judged most attractive, at 9 o'clock.

Opening Service

A devotional service conducted by District Superintendent William Brickner, of Cleveland, and address of welcome by Harry Wilhelm, of the Prospect Street M. E. church league, opened the meetings of the Ohio district conference at Prospect Street M. E. church at 1:30 o'clock.

The Rev. Karl W. Patow, local pastor and president of the Columbus group, gave a short talk, after which papers were given by Miss Edna Dolle, of Hamilton, and Miss Clara Kattenheinrich, of New Knoxville.

Frank Rudolph of the Marion Y. M. C. A. conducted a recreation hour at 4 o'clock, followed by a fellowship supper served by the local league.

Tonight the principal address will be given by Dr. Frederic Bankhart, superintendent of the Children's Home of Toledo, whose subject will be, "Dominant Desires." Young women of the local league will be presented in pantomime, "O Zion Haste."

Saturday morning's session is scheduled to begin at 9 o'clock.

GIVE PROGRAM

P. T. A. Members Sponsor Grand Prairie School Entertainment

Members of the Grand Prairie Parent-Teachers association held their annual Thanksgiving program Wednesday night in the school building before a capacity audience.

The first and second grade pupils opened the program with a song, "Over the River and Through the Woods," followed by a play, "Mrs. Newlyweds's First Thanksgiving Dinner," given by five pupils. Sixteen students sang a song, "Inquisitive Child." The closing number was an operetta, "Billy Brewster's Rooster," in which the lead was taken by Charles Riley. The December meeting will be held at a date near the Christmas holidays.

KILLED IN WRECK

NEAR DEATH

Youth Jumps from Window of Ironton Prison

Ironton, Nov. 30—Ralph E. Roberts, 13, started out to see the world Thursday and today he is lying at the point of death with a fractured skull in a hospital here.

Thursday, according to the information given police by his mother, Mrs. Florence Roberts, Ralph procured a gun and started "west." He was captured at Ashland, Ky. Last night he was returned here and placed in the detention room on the third floor of the county jail.

Shortly before daylight this morning the turnkey heard a scream and on investigating found Ralph sprawled on the ground. He had pried off the lock of his prison and jumped from a window of the third floor.

COL. W. G. ARCHER SPEAKS AT Y. M. C. A.

Approximately 25 men heard Colonel W. G. Archer, of Chicago, speak on "Civilization and Sanitation" at the Marion Y. M. C. A. Wednesday night.

Civilization is dependent upon sanitation, according to Colonel Archer, and no nation can decline as long as it holds to proper standards of sanitation and cleanliness, he said.

A pedestrian should always have himself under control.

Your weight is distributed approximately like this

What does your Foot do?

ARCH PRESERVER SHOE — KEEPS THE FOOT WELL

YOUR foot must provide support, must bear the weight of your body, must stand up under your 18,908 steps a day (the number of steps taken daily by the average man).

Now in supporting the body the foot bears the weight at three contact points—the heel, the "ball" and the outer side of the arch.

The ordinary shoe gives support at only two of these points—the heel and the "ball" for the shank of the ordinary shoe soon sags down and the arch is left unsupported.

Therefore the principle of the Arch Preserver Shoe is correct, for the concealed, built-in arch bridge supports at this contact point of the arch where support is needed and there can be no strain.

The Arch Preserver Shoe is different. It has other exclusive features.

Try a pair and you will greatly understand the difference.

If I Were A Man / If I Were A Girl

BY JILL

I WOULDN'T begin a story: "If you've heard this one, stop me." Everybody knows it's only a phrase and doesn't mean a thing. I wouldn't fix my listeners with a glittering eye that dared them to interrupt, and then spin out my story to interminable lengths just for the sake of holding the center of the stage as long as I possibly could. And I wouldn't pause every so often to take a deep, sustaining puff of my cigar, or relight my pipe, while everybody waited in deadly, painful silence. It's not good form to interrupt, and the poor audience is at an unfair disadvantage. They have to pretend breathless interest no matter how bored they are or how wildly they yearn to murder me in cold blood. I'd try to remember that most of them had probably heard the story before and didn't think it funny the first time. And when a burst of hysterical laughter greeted my final sally, I wouldn't take it as a tribute to my powers as a raconteur. There's such a thing as the hysteria of relief, you know!

BY JACK

I WOULDN'T be conscious of my clothes all the time. I wouldn't keep my mind constantly on the details of what I was wearing, and I wouldn't feel myself over every so often to make sure everything was still hanging together. I wouldn't expect a man to admire every costume, or to notice every new pin or bracelet I happened to be flaunting. And I wouldn't stop in front of every mirror to adjust my hat or pull down my blouse or make sure that my skirt hung correctly. I'd be sure that were right when I put them on, and then I'd forget them. I wouldn't refuse to go where my escort wanted to just because I wasn't wearing exactly the right kind of costume. If I were driving, I wouldn't worry about how mussed my clothes would be when I got out; if it looked like rain, I wouldn't say reproachfully: "Oh, dear, I just know my hat will be ruined," and if the waiter spilled a dab of French dressing on my sleeve, or a cigarette ash burned a hole in my skirt, I wouldn't act as though the entire day had been spoiled.

STOP THE FAT AND GET THIN

The way to reduction is to stop the formation of fat. Modern science has found that way—by turning your food into fuel and energy—by supplying a natural element that helps do that. It is much better than starvation. That modern, scientific method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. Now the results in slender figures, new beauty and vitality, are seen everywhere.

Each box of Marmola contains the formula, also the scientific reasons for results. So you know the effects are beneficial, and why they all occur. Learn what so many have learned in 20 years about it. Do it now. Ask your druggist for a $1 box of Marmola and learn what it means to you.

Helps Women To Do Their Work

"I don't see how you can do all your own housework, sew for three children and find time for so much church and lodge work. I should be a nervous wreck."

"So should I without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have taken it for years whenever I feel nervous, fretty, or all tired out."

"Don't Get So Tired"

MT. CARMEL, PA.—"After my second baby was born I had to work too hard and be on my feet too soon because my husband was ill. After his death I was in such a weakened and run-down condition that nothing seemed to help me. I am starting the fourth bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and feel a great deal better. I am much stronger and don't get so tired out when I wash or work hard. I do housekeeping and dressmaking and I highly recommend the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Gertrude Butts, 414 S. Market St., Mt. An Unusual Romance of Love and Sacrifice

BY HAZEL LIVINGSTON

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT

"HALLELUJA! Halleluja!" the radio blared. Dance music, ...bing, pulsing, vibrant with the ...gle beat.

"You're spilling the gin, you nut!" ...stal's voice shrilled above it. "I ... one kiss—just one . . . Ralph! ..."

And then a man's muffled words. ...ghter. The sound of struggling ...

Avery Woodward's lips were pursed ... soundless whistle. His fine, dark ...brows were grotesquely arched. ...h infinite caution he tiptoed ...ss the studio, eyes glued on the ... kitchen door, and laid his ...cels on the cluttered library table. ... was smiling, something like a lit... sinister in his dark, mask-like countenance, as he tiptoed out again, avoiding the slippery rugs and fat leather cushions on the floor. With deliberate malice he let the doorknob slip under his fingers. It made a grating, metallic sound. Then, very leisurely, and still smiling he made his way to the alcove near the fire-escape at the end of the hall. The thickly carpeted hallway made a not uncomfortable couch. Half reclining, half sitting he leaned on one elbow and blew smoke rings while he waited for Crystal's caller to leave.

He was so comfortable, and the view of the lighted city from the hall window was so entrancing that he lay there, smoking and dreaming long after the stranger had departed, and he knew that Crystal was alone.

But finally the last cigarette was gone, and he was hungry. He stretched long and luxuriously . . . "Ho . . . . . Hum!" He rubbed his thin, dark hair with grubby fingers. "Hooo . . . hum!" If he didn't move pretty soon he'd be asleep.

Crystal had kicked off her pumps and exchanged her tailor-suit for a paint-daubed yellow smock when he entered, without the formality of knocking.

She jumped to her feet with a little cry, spilling the chocolates she had on her lap. "Avery! You scared me! I wish to heaven you'd quit wearing rubber heels. Now look at my candy, all over the floor!"

He got down on his hands and knees, and began to pick them up. "Little jumpy tonight, aren't you? Nut centers, my favorite kind. The bird that brought them had some sense. I don't care for the glace fruit. I wish you'd tell him, sweetheart."

"I wish you wouldn't be so damn funny!"

"My brand of humor doesn't appeal, dearest?"

"No, it doesn't!" He could see the tears trembling on her eyelashes, and he pointed a nicotine stained forefinger at her, and laughed with his mouth full, "I knew you were nervous. What about?"

With an effort she controlled herself and went to the window where she stood with her back to him, looking out.

"What's the matter?" he snickered, popping the last Brazil-nut into his mouth.

"Oh you know perfectly well, what's the matter. Coming in and leaving that stuff on the table—"

He followed her over to the window, hands in his pockets. "So that's it. Try to please a woman! Just try—"

"Avery I wish you'd talk sense once in a while. You know perfectly well that—that I had a friend out in the kitchen. I heard you come in. It wasn't necessary to slam the door!"

"I didn't slam the door, dearest. It might have creaked a bit as I was painstakingly closing it. How was I to know you were entertaining? And do you always entertain in the kitchen. Must one of those quaint country customs, I can't seem to remember you were raised on a farm."

"Eggs and French bread on the table. How does that look? What do you suppose he thought?" she exploded, shaking with the angry tears she was determined not to shed.

"What did he think?" Woodward snickered again. "That I was a good provider, my dear. Something, by the way, you have intimated that I am not. And then when I bring you a loaf of bread, and a dozen of the best eggs, hoping you will make me an omelette—"

"Shut up!" She had lost all control of her temper now. She flew at him, shaking and sobbing as in the old days she had flown at her mother. "Shut your mouth! Oh I'm sick of you—sick of the way you treat me. I won't stand it another minute. I'm through—do you hear me? You are nothing but a dirty, low-down bum; that's all you are, living on me. You even bought the eggs with my money, you know you did. You did! You did! Don't try to talk to me—I won't listen. You aren't worth Ralph McKevitt's little finger. What do you suppose he thought, seeing that stuff there on the table? I said it was there all the time, but do you think he believed me? Who would? What kind of a reputation do you think I'll have with you sticking around here all the time? People'll talk. I'll get put out, that's what. I won't stand it. You get out of here. I don't want to look at you any more—I don't want—" Paroxysms of sobs shook her, she was beating her breast, tearing at her short, curly hair, she wanted to wound him, to sting him out of his contemptuous calm, to goad him to a frenzy like her own.

He leaned against the wall, his lips parted, his sallow face death-like in its expressionless pallor. "Yes, I'm listening. Go on. Tell me some more about this—this angel that—" He licked his dry lips, and leered—"that loves art so much he pays—"

"That's just it!" she blazed, dashing the furious tears away. "He does love art, or he thinks I do—what's the difference? He's lending me the money—oh you needn't sneer, he's never had anything but a few kisses for it—he's crazy about me, the poor idiot, he thinks I'm a genius—he worships me—"

Woodward threw back his head and guffawed, "Fine Go on—"

"I won't go on. I'm through. Through with you, anyhow. Thank God I came to in time. I mighta gone on making an idiot of myself if you hadn't shown me—get out, will you?—You scum! I'm off with you—I've got a real man—a man, do you hear? And he loves me—and he'll take care of me—"

He waited until her wild sobbing had ceased. Then he picked up his greasy black hat, and the bread and the eggs. "You won't be needing my poor presents now, and I—I am still hungry, your exhibition has in no way impaired by appetite—"

He bowed, with exaggerated gallantry, sweeping the floor with his limp, ragged hat. "Au revoir, dear heart. Or shall we say, farewell?"

"Get out! Get out of here!"

"Shh—not so loud, the janitor will hear you. Farewell, my kitten. I wish you well. What misfortune that it is I you love, and not this fine young man!"

"I'll show you," she panted when he had gone, "I'll prove how much I love you, you good-for nothing!" Her voice was almost gone but she managed to whisper "Douglas 4820," her lips close to the telephone.

The operator, confused by her thick voice and broken breathing, gave her the wrong number twice, but she pulled herself together and persisted. Finally a sleepy voice answered.

"Mr. McKevitt," she whispered hoarsely. "Get him quickly—it's—important!"

And while a weary switch-board operator plugged in on McKevitt's apartment, a small, kimonaed figure was tapping softly on Flora McCardle's door, second floor back, in the Hinckle menage.

Flora sat bolt upright in bed, and dropped the book she had been reading. "Well? Who is it?"

Her big, hearty voice heartened the timid knocker. The door opened a crack, and Daphne's small white face appeared in the crack.

"I saw your light, Flora, and I couldn't sleep, so I wondered—"

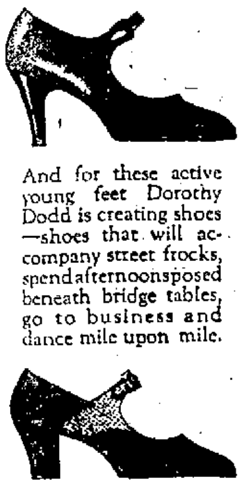

Flora, hard-boiled Flora, who could read faces almost as easily as books, and found them much more interesting took one long look at the unhappy girl and held out her arms.

"You poor kid! Come tell Flora all about it!"

The Heart Story of a Woman's Lasting Affection

BY ADELE GARRISON

Marion and Ronald Plan an Early Rising To See Gorgeous Sunrise

MARY HARRISON, Dicky's winsome young niece, is what her grandmother calls a "born tease," but I guessed that something deeper than teasing lay beneath her suggestion that if it were moonlight, Marion could drive Ronald down to see the ocean bathed in the rays of the moon. Mary believed that Marion, because of the almost cloistered existence which had been hers, was in horrence of girlhood, and that the addaughter and the youth who was disvent of a handsome collegiate like Ronald into her life would be a most beneficial thing for her. Knowing Marion's shyness and inexperience she had determined to play the part of the goddess in the machine and furnish as much propinquity as possible to Lillian's winsome young daughter and the yoth who was displaying so much admiration for her.

Marion flushed perceptibly at Mary's suggestion, but I was proud of her composed answer.

"I'm so sorry it isn't moonlight," she said, "for the ocean's a perfectly marvelous sight when it is. Have you ever seen it by moonlight?"

"I'm sure I never did," Ronald returned regretfully. "Indeed, Carol and I can't remember much about the ocean. We left and went West when we were little things. I kept promising myself last year that I'd surely run down to it, but things kept coming up so all I've seen is just the bay, or something like that."

"That's too bad," Mary struck in briskly. "Now if only this party wasn't so late, you could get up and see it by sunrise. That's almost as glorious."

"That would be fine," Ronald said enthusiastically. "But"—reluctantly—"I wouldn't have the nerve to ask anybody to go with me that early, after getting to bed this late. If you'll tell me the way to go, however, I'll take a run down to the shore in the morning. I'll be very quiet getting out, so that no one will be disturbed."

His words and manner were diffident, but the glance at Marion which accompanied them was distinctly hopeful. The child was painfully embarrassed — her crimson cheeks showed that, but her answer to his unspoken appeal was prompt.

"I don't mind getting up that early," she said stanchly. "I'd love to go down with you and Carolyn just before sunrise. You'll have to wrap up warmly though. It's pretty chilly in the mornings at this time of the year."

"You'll have to count me out of that party," Carolyn said promptly, giving a realistic little shiver. "Ron knows I'd rather take a good licking than get up in the morning at the regular time. And after getting to bed at midnight or later, to crawl out before daylight—no—no! I'm romantic, but not so looney as all that. However, don't let me spoil the party."

"We're not going to," her brother told her promptly, "that is," he turned to Marion resolutely despite a certain boyish embarrassment which I found most appealing, "if you'll be kind enough to go with me in the morning."

Marion looked at me, and I knew that Carolyn's withdrawal from the proposed little trip had made Marion wonder whether her mother would approve her driving down to the shore alone with Ronald.

"If Auntie Madge doesn't object, I'd love to go," she reiterated.

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

ANOTHER holiday. I am glad it is a holiday, but I am glad Thanksgiving is over too? I would not want to have turkey for dinner every day. It is not so good as I thought it was day before yesterday. It wasn't so cold today as it was yesterday, and that made the snow pack fine. So we went over to slide on the Heightsjakes' hill.

They have got two hills, and a fella can slide down one and half ways up the other so he don't have to walk so very far, an when we got to their hill their was a bunch of them sliding and we charged them and pasted them with snowballs so that they skun out, and then we slid a few times and then we skun out back to our own pond, because we knowed they had gone for the rest of their bunch and would come back with enough to run us away. So we came back and hid behind the damn and the willows at the foot of our pond, and waited there making snowballs and keeping still till we nearly froze, and then all at once, there the Heightsjakes were at the top of our hill and they were all carrying snowballs and dragging sleds, and we peeked through the willows and when they didn't see us anywhere arounr they put their snowballs down at the top of the hill and started sliding, and then we all snuck around and up through the brickyard and came out on the top of the hill where their snowballs were, and we gathered them up in our arms and went charging and yelling down the hill.

Mealy fell on her face with her legs in the air and I jumped over her, and Nibs opened his face to holler and just then a big snowball hit his face, and he stopped and began choking and spitting, but the rest of us kept going, and it was all over in about a minute and the Heightsjakes were going away down the ... track ... Mealy ... a ... and ... swallowed so much snow ... a cold ... we were all ... been fun.

... the sight of turkey and wouldn't we come in and clean it up for them. We went in and started, and pretty soon we all stopped eating to watch Mealy. She just simply tore it apart and almost et bones and all. I bet the goose her mother had wasn't so very good, or she lied about it. The turkey was cleaned up and the pups had et the bones when we got done, and Miss Parmer said we had done her a real favor.

We had round steak cut thin for supper and it tasted good.

If I Were A Man | If I Were A Girl

BY JILL

WOULDN'T begin a story: "If you've heard this one, stop me." Everybody knows it's only a phrase and doesn't mean a thing. I wouldn't fix my listeners with a glittering eye that dared them to interrupt, and then spin out my story to interminable lengths just for the sake of holding the center of the stage as long as I possibly could. And I wouldn't pause every so often to take a deep, sustaining puff of my cigar, or relight my pipe, while everybody waited in deadly, painful silence. It's not good form to interrupt, and the poor audience is at an unfair disadvantage. They have to pretend breathless interest no matter how bored they are or how wildly they yearn to murder me in cold blood. I'd try to remember that most of them had probably heard the story before and didn't think it funny the first time. And when a burst of hysterical laughter greeted my final sally, I wouldn't take it as a tribute to my powers as a raconteur. There's such a thing as the hysteria of relief, you know.

BY JACK

WOULDN'T be conscious of my clothes all the time. I wouldn't keep my mind continually on the details of what I was wearing, and I wouldn't feel myself over every so often to make sure everything was still hanging together. I wouldn't expect a man to admire every costume, or to notice every new pin or buckle or bracelet I happened to be flaunting. And I wouldn't stop in front of every mirror to adjust my hat or pull down my blouse or make sure that my skirt hung correctly. I'd be sure they were right when I put them on, and then I'd forget them. I wouldn't refuse to go where my escort wanted to just because I wasn't wearing exactly the right kind of costume. If I were driving, I wouldn't worry about how mussed my clothes would be when I got out; if it looked like rain, I wouldn't say reproachfully: "Oh, dear, I just know my hat will be ruined;" and if the waiter spilled a dab of French dressing on my sleeve, or a cigarette ash burned a hole in my skirt, I wouldn't act as though the entire day had been spoiled.

STOP THE FAT AND GET THIN

The way to reduction is to stop the formation of fat. Modern science has found that way—by turning your food into fuel and energy—by supplying a natural element that helps do that. It is much better than starvation. That modern, scientific method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. Now the results in slender figures, new beauty and vitality, are seen everywhere.

Each box of Marmola contains the formula, also the scientific reasons for results. So you know the effects are beneficial, and why they all occur. Learn what so many have learned in 20 years about it. Do it now. Ask your druggist for a $1 box of Marmola and learn what it means to you.

Helps Women To Do Their Work

"I don't see how you can do all your own housework, sew for three children and find time for so much church and lodge work. I should be a nervous wreck."

"So should I without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have taken it for years whenever I feel nervous, fretty, or all tired out."

"Don't Get So Tired"

MT. CARMEL, PA.—"After my second baby was born I had to work too hard and be on my feet too soon because my husband was ill. After his death I was in such a weakened and run down condition that nothing seemed to help me. I am starting the fourth bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and feel a great deal better. I am much stronger and don't get so tired out when I wash or work hard. I do housekeeping and dressmaking and I highly recommend the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Gertrude Butts, 414 S. Market St., Mt. An Unusual Romance of Love and Sacrifice

BY HAZEL LIVINGSTON

CHAPTER TWENTY EIGHT

HALLELUJA' Hallelua'' the radio blared Dance music pulsing, vibrant with the beat

'Fire spilling the gin, you nut!' Iris's voice shrilled above it. 'I'll be back—just one Ralph'

Then a man's muffled words Peter The sound of struggling

Peter Woodward's lips were pursed in soundless whistle His fine, dark brows were grotesquely arched In infinite caution he tiptoed across the studio eyes glued on the white kitchen door, and laid his hat on the cluttered library table Then a smiling something like a lizard glister in his dark mask like countenance, as he tiptoed out again avoiding the slippery rugs and fat leather cushions on the floor With deliberate malice he let the doorknob slip under his fingers. It made a grating, metallic sound Then, very leisurely, and still smiling he made his way to the alcove near the fire escape at the end of the hall The thickly carpeted hallway made a not uncomfortable couch Half reclining half sitting, he leaned on one elbow and blew smoke rings while he waited for Crystal's caller to leave

He was so comfortable and the view of the lighted city from the hall window was so entrancing that he lay there smoking and dreaming long after the stranger had departed, and he knew that Crystal was alone

But finally the last cigarette was gone and he was hungry He stretched long and luxuriously

'Ho Hum' He rubbed his slim dark hair with grubby fingers. 'Hooo hum!' If he didn't move pretty soon he'd be asleep

Crystal had kicked off her pumps and exchanged her tailor-suit for a paint-daubed yellow smock when he entered without the formality of knocking

She jumped to her feet with a little cry spilling the chocolates she had on her lap Avery' You scared me! I wish to heaven you'd quit wearing rubber heels Now look at my candy all over the floor!

He got down on his hands and knees and began to pick them up

Little jumps tonight aren't you? Nut centers my favorite kind The bird that brought them had some sense I don't care for the glace fruit. I wish you'd tell him sweet heart'

I wish you wouldn't be so damn funny'

My brand of humor doesn't appeal dearest'

No it doesn't! He could see the tears trembling on her eyelashes and he pointed a nicotine stained forefinger at her and laughed with his mouth full, I knew you were nervous What about?'

With an effort she controlled herself and went to the window where she stood with her back to him, looking out.

What's the matter' he snickered popping the last Brazil nut into his mouth

Oh you know perfectly well, what's the matter Coming in and busting that stuff on the table—'

He followed her over to the window and in his pockets so that's it Try to please a woman! Just try—

Aren't I wish you'd talk sense once in a while You know perfectly well that—that I had a friend out in the kitchen I heard you come in It wasn't necessary to slam the door'

I didn't slam the door dearest It might have creaked a bit as I was painstakingly closing it How was I to know you were entertaining' And do you always entertain in the kitchen Miss one of those quaint country customs I can't seem to remember you were raised on a farm

Eggs and French bread on the table How does that look' What do you suppose he thought' she exploded shaking with the angry tears she was determined not to shed

What did he think Woodward snickered again That I was a good provider my dear Something by the way, you have intimated that I am not And then when I bring you a loaf of bread, and a dozen of the best eggs, being you will make me an omelet to—

Shut up' She had lost all control of her temper now She flew at him shaking, and sobbing, as in the old days, she had flown at her mother

Shut your mouth' Oh I'm sick of you—sick of the way you treat me I won't stand it another minute I'm through—do you hear me? You are nothing but a dirty low-down bum that's all you are living on me You even bought the eggs with my money you know you did You did' You did' Don't try to talk to me—I won't listen You aren't worth Ralph McKevitt's little finger What do you suppose he thought seeing that stuff there on the table' I said it was there all the time but do you think he believed me? Who would? What kind of a reputation do you think I'll have with you sticking around here all the time' People'll talk I'll get put out that's what I won't stand it. You get out of here I don't want to look at you any more—I don't want— Convulsions of sobs shook her she was beating her breast tearing at her short curly hair, she wanted to wound him to sting him out of his contemptuous calm to goad him to a frenzy like her own

He leaned against the wall his lips parted his sallow face death like in its expressionless pallor Yes I'm listening Go on Tell me some more about this—this angel that—' He licked his dry lips and leered—'that loves art so much he pays—'

That's just it! she blazed dashing the furious tears away He does love art or he thinks I do—what's the difference? He's lending me the money—oh you needn't sneer he's never had anything but a few kisses for it—he's crazy about me the poor idiot he thinks I'm a genius—he worships me—

Woodward threw back his head and guffawed I'm Go on—

I won't go on I'm through Through with you anyhow Thank God I came to in time I might've gone on making an idiot of myself if you hadn't shown me—get out will you'—You scum' I'm off with you—I've got a real man—a man, do you hear? And he loves me—and he'll take care of me—

He waited until her wild sobbing had ceased Then he picked up his greasy black hat, and the bread and the eggs You won't be needing my poor presents now and I—I am still hungry your exhibition has in no way impaired by appetite—

He bowed with exaggerated gallantry sweeping the floor with his limp ragged hat 'Au revoir dear heart Or shall we say farewell?

Get out! Get out of here!'

"Shh—not so loud the janitor will hear you Farewell my kitten I wish you well What misfortune that it is I you love, and not this fine young man!

'I'll show you' she panted when he had gone, I'll prove how much I love you you good for nothing! Her voice was almost gone but she managed to whisper Douglas 4820, her lips close to the telephone

The operator, confused by her thick voice and broken breathing gave her the wrong number twice but she pulled herself together and persisted Finally a sleepy voice answered

Mr McKevitt she whispered hoarsely Get him quickly—it's—important!

And while a weary switch board operator plugged in on McKevitt's apartment a small kimonoed figure was tapping softly on Flora McCarthy's door second floor back, in the Hinckle menage

Flora sat bolt upright in bed and dropped the book she had been reading Well' Who is it?'

Her big hearty voice heartened the timid knocker The door opened a crack and Daphne's small white face appeared in the crack

I saw your light, Flora, and I couldn't sleep so I wondered—

Flora hard boiled Flora, who could read faces almost as easily as books, and found them much more interesting took one long look at the unhappy girl and held out her arms

You poor kid' Come tell Flora all about it'

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD P. LEWIS

ANOTHER holiday I am glad it is a holiday but I am glad Thanksgiving is over too? I would not want to have turkey for dinner every day It is not as good as I thought it was day before yesterday It wasn't so cold today as it was yesterday, and that made the snow feel fine So we went over to slide on the Heightsjakes hill

They have got two hills and a fella can slide down one and half ways up the other so he don't have to walk so very far, an when we got to their hill their was a bunch of them sliding and we chased them and pelted them with snowballs so that they skun out, and then we slid a few times and then we skun out back to our own pond because we knowed they had gone for the rest of their bunch and would come back with enough to run us away So we came back and hid behind the damn and the willows at the foot of our pond and waited there making snowballs and keeping still till we nearly froze and then all at once there the Heightsjakes were at the top of our hill and they were all carrying snowballs and dragging slays, and we peeked through the willows and when they didn't see us any where around they put their snow balls down at the top of the hill and started sliding, and then we all smuck around and up through the brickyard and came out on the top of the hill where their snowballs were, and we gathered them up in our arms and went charging and yelling down the hill

Mealy fell on her face with her legs in the air and I jumped over her, and Nibs opened his face to holler and just then a big snowball hit his face, and he stopped and began choking and spitting but the rest of us kept going, and it was all over in about a minute and the Heightsjakes were going away down the railroad track as fast as they could go Mealy had a skun chin and Banty had a bloody nose and Nib said he swallowed so much snow he felt like a cold storage plant, but the rest of us were all right and it had certainly been fun

Then we went over to the vacant lot and were playing ball in the ring when Miss Farmer called us and when we got there she said she and her sister had had a big turkey sent them for Thanksgiving and were sick of the sight of turkey and would it we come in and clean it up for them We went in and started and pretty soon we all stopped eating to watch Mealy She just simply tore it apart and almost et bones and all I bet the goose her mother had wasn't so very good or she lied about it the turkey was cleaned up and he purposed et the bones when we got done, and Miss Farmer said we had done her a real favor,

We had round steak cut thin for supper and it tasted good

Love's Awakening

The Heart Story of a Woman's Lasting Affection

BY ADELE DARRISON

MARY HARRISON, Dakers wish some young miss is what her grandma her calls a born tease but I guessed that something deeper than teasing lay beneath her suggestion that if it were moonlight, Marion could drive Ronald down to see the ocean bathed in the rays of the moon Mary believed that Marion, because of the almost cloistered existence which had been hers, was in ignorance of girlhood and that the old daughter and the youth who was the scene of a handsome collegiate like Ronald into her life would be a most beneficial thing for her Knowing Marion's shyness and inexperience she had determined to play the part of the goddess in the machine and furnish as much propinquity as possible to Lillian's winsome young daughter and the youth who was his playing so much admiration at her

Marion flushed perceptibly at Mary's suggestion but I was proud of her composed answer

'I'm so sorry it isn't moonlight she said for the ocean is a perfectly marvelous sight when it is Have you ever seen it by moonlight?

I'm sure I never did,' Ronald returned regretfully Indeed Carol and I can't remember much about the ocean We left and went West when we were little things I kept promising myself last year that I'd surely run down to it but things kept coming up so all I've seen is just the bay, or something like that

That's too bad' Mary struck in briskly Now if only this party wasn't so late you could get up and see it in sunrise That's almost as glorious

That would be fine' Ronald said enthusiastically But —reluctantly — I wouldn't have the nerve to ask anybody to go with me that early after getting to bed this late It you'll tell me the way to go however, I'll take a run down to the shore in the morning I'll be very quiet getting out so that no one will be disturbed'

His words and manner were confident but the glance at Marion which accompanied them was distinctly hopeful The child was painfully embarrassed — her crimson cheeks showed that, but her answer to his unspoken appeal was prompt

I don't mind getting up that early' she said staunchly 'Oh I'll go down with you and Carolyn just before sunrise You'll have to wrap up warmly though It's pretty chilly in the mornings at this time of the year'

'You'll have to count me out of that party,' Carolyn said promptly, giving a realistic little shiver. Ron knows I'd rather take a good lickin' than get up in the morning at the regular time And after getting to bed at midnight or later to crawl out before daylight—no—no' I'm romantic, but not so bizarre as all that However, don't let me spoil the party

We're not going to," her brother told her promptly, 'that is," he turned to Marion resolutely despite a certain boyish embarrassment which I found most appealing If you'll be kind enough to go with me in the morning

Marion looked at me and I knew that Carolyn's withdrawal from the proposed little trip had made Marion wonder whether her mother would approve her driving down to the shore alone with Ronald

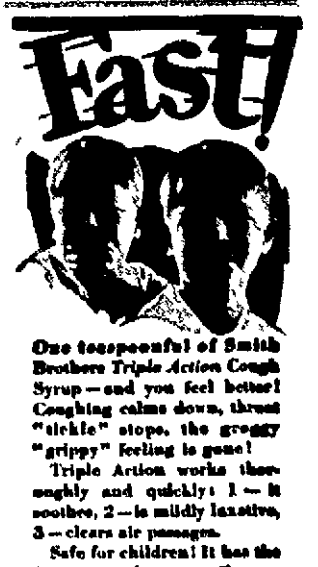

If Aunt Madge doesn't object, I'd love to go' she reiterated

SERMON SUBJECT

Evangelist to Speak on "The Second Place Man" Tonight

"The Second Place Man" is the subject of the sermon to be preached by the Rev. Oliver H. Austin, evangelist at the revival service at 7:30 o'clock tonight at First Church of Brethern. Mr. Austin will preach Saturday night on the subject, "Eight Kinds of Church Members."

Last night Mr. Austin preached on the subject, "The Jesus Way of Winning Men," picturing Christ eating with sinners and visiting them in their places of business.

"Christ was not slothful in the work of God—he invited men to follow him in the profitable business of 'catching men,'" the evangelist said.

Mrs. Austin, wife of the evangelist, is conducting the music for the campaign. Mr. and Mrs. Austin have been engaged in evangelistic work since 1915.

FILE PETITION

Landowners Ask Halt in Road Construction

Mt. Gilead, Nov. 30—Twenty-four abutting landowners on the Miller-Kline-Queen road in Congress township filed an injunction petition against the commissioners of Morrow county in the common pleas court here Wednesday seeking an injunction against the commissioners to prohibit further construction of the road. They also name County Auditor Roy Miller in the petition as a defendant, asking that he be ordered not to place the assessments for the road on the tax sheets.

In their petition the plaintiffs enumerate 12 reasons why the road should not be completed, and ask that the injunction be granted.

The plaintiffs are C. M. Potts, H. M. Cover, John Wagner, George W. Sowers, James Baker, Elmer Treisch, Walter Goff, Arthur Hershner, Leslie M. Schreck, Mell Garrerick, G. C. Rinehart, E. F. Rischer, J. V. Myers, Edward Shier, W. H. Poland, M. B. Hershner, Fred McClelland, H. H. Shenefield, A. W. Garrerick, J. H. Rischer, A. A. Baker, David Goff, R. F. Bunker and Etta Treisch. Ben Olds and T. B. Matzer are the attorneys.

MT. GILEAD OBSERVES THANKSGIVING DAY

Mt. Gilead, Nov. 30—A special Thanksgiving service in the Presbyterian church here yesterday morning at 10 o'clock was very well attended. Rev. D. E. Miller of the First Baptist church gave the sermon and the men's quartet of the Presbyterian church furnished a special number. The Rev. J. C. Smith of the M. E. church here read the benediction. The opening prayer was given by the Rev. Daniel Hamill of the Presbyterian church. The Thanksgiving Day proclamation of President Coolidge was read by the Rev. J. C. Smith.

Far East Melodies

WEAF NETWORK FEATURE

on Saturday Program

Native melodies of the far East as interpreted by the musicians of many lands will be heard in an oriental program to be presented by Lew White, theater organist, over the WEAF network of the National Broadcasting system at 9 o'clock Saturday night.

A tuneful revlew of Irish dance music will be a feature in the Lucky Strike broadcast over the WEAF network of the NBC system at 10 o'clock Saturday night. Other popular numbers will also be heard during the dance program

Dick Dougins, one of the three 15-year-old Boy Scouts chosen from more than 800,000 boys to spend the summer in Africa with the noted wild animal photographer, Martin Johnson, will tell of some of his exciting experiences through the WJZ network of the NBC system at 8:30 o'clock Saturday night.

"The Red Mill," a musical comedy in two acts by Victor Herbert, will be produced as the Philco Hour feature over the WJZ network at 9 o'clock Saturday night.

Dave Schooler, formerly known as "the Boy Paderewski" who began an engagement as guest conductor of the Capitol theater's stage band recently, will play in the broadcast by Major Edward Bowes' Capitol family through the WEAF network at 7:30 o'clock Sunday night.

Frederick Jagel, tenor of the Metropolitan Opera company, will be the featured artist in the Atwater Kent concert through the WEAF network at 9:15 o'clock Sunday night

AN ERMINE-LINED WRAP

For those of the fair sex who simply MUST be different from their sisters, a famous Parisian couturier thought up this smart, ermine lined wrap to ward off winter's chill. Notice the simplicity of the dress over which it is meant to be worn, a grateful relief from the craze for overadornment.

MEETS BROTHER

Iowa Woman Had Never Seen Him Before

BUCKINGHAM, Iowa, Nov. 30—Mrs. Tobias Peterson of Buckingham is entertaining a brother whom she never saw until he entered her home for Thanksgiving yesterday. He is Lieut. Andrew Anderson, U. S. A., retired, of New York City, who left his home in Denmark 32 years ago, three years before his sister was born.

When he grew to manhood, Anderson joined the army. His sister came to America when she was 15, but was unable to find trace of her brother until after the World War. They corresponded and when Anderson was retired he immediately made arrangements to come here.

Mrs Peterson has a twin sister and a young brother in Denmark whom Anderson never has seen. He is planning a trip to the old country next spring.

MUNICH'S TAXI RATES NOW MUCH CHEAPER

Munich—By doing away with the distinction between "large" and "small" taxis, Munich has made this mode of travel still cheaper

The first mile now costs about 25 cents, and each additional mile 16 cents. The corresponding night prices—after midnight—are roundly 36 and 30 cents

)ay of Penitence Needed n America, Speaker Tells ʼudience at Union Service s from God Will Increase as Nation Shows Gratitude Fittingly, Dr. George States in Annual Thanksgiving Day Sermon

s his text the twelfth to ... rses of the one hundred th Psalm "What shall I ... the Lord for all his bea ... I ... and I will take ... salvation, and pay my ... the Lord now in the pres... his people" Dr R. L. ... of Epworth M E. ... the Thanksgiving mes... to largely attended Thanks... vice yesterday morning at ... tist church

... holiday activities here ... impressive service ... by members of the Marion Ministerial association at ... where Protestants ... all churches of the ... for Thanksgiving wor...

Reasons for Gratitude

... unities of living and ... together with the ... morality and re... in America he its ... cited by Dr George ... most significant for ... thankful on this Thanks...

... has been on this na... all its history" Dr ... part and He would ... largely if there ... fulness and more holiness ... We must thank God ... thanksgiving be filled

... instance Dr George ... feel a day of penitence ... as well as a day of ... We need such a day ... to rededicate ourselves ... We should have a day to ... for his multitudinous ... and a day following to again ... lives to his service

Devout in Early Days

... we not as much to be ... our father" Dr George said in his sermon. They had a sense of God and a fine con... science like few moderns have. While we are more materially blessed than they we must remember man does not live by bread alone but by God and his ideals of truth

"We must not be thankful alone that our acres are more productive than in former years and because we have more money in circulation but because there is a spiritual perception in the sons and daughters of God for which to be devotedly thankful

Proclamation Read

The Thanksgiving proclamation of President Coolidge was read by the Rev S F Porter after the service had opened with prayer by the Rev G G Canfield and a vocal solo by J H Taylor The Rev W H How... and read words of scripture concerning praise and thanksgiving, and the Rev Herbert F Weckmueller president of the Ministerial association who presided introduced Dr George

The closing prayer was given by the Rev Lawrence Wood who came here this week from Mansfield to take up his duties next Sunday as pastor of Trinity church

Special Music

A beautiful feature of the service were the organ numbers played by Miss Grace Durfee, Laudate Domini Tresmiger Lento seventh symphony, Guilmant and "Grand Chorus" Rogers. Mr. Taylor's solo number was "The Lord Is My Light," ...

The collection taken at the service will be divided equally between the local Red Cross and Salvation army for use in Marion.

Thanksgiving services were also held last night at Emanuel's Lutheran church and Wednesday night at Lee Street Presbyterian church. Still other churches observed Thanksgiving in services last Sunday

RICHMAN'S CLOTHES

ALL $22.50

Suits, overcoats and tuxedo suits—all made in the Richman factories and sold direct to you without a middleman's profit, and at one standard price—$22.50.

Value beyond all comparison in this timely showing of fine tuxedo suits. Black unfiinshed dress worsteds, cut in latest style, and faced with genuine Skinner satin. Tailored in the faultless manner of expensive evening clothes by workers who want to please you, because they share with us in the ownership of this business.

Our amazingly low price includes a brocaded silk dress vest—all for $22.50.

YOU'LL find everything new, and nothing that is not new, in our immense stock—suits in every good style for men and young men—worsteds, cassimeres, twists and cheviots of rigidly tested quality in all the newest patterns and shades. Overcoats in Box, Raglan, Ulster, Chesterfield and Trench models with unlimited choice of weave, pattern and coloring—pure wool fabrics of the quality seldom sold at less than $50—a range of sizes so complete that any man can be fitted perfectly.

CITY BRIEFS

Chimney Fire—No loss resulted when soot in a chimney caught fire at the home of C. L. Pace, 203 Hane av., at 7:40 o'clock this morning. Fire company No. 1 answered the alarm.

Conducts Funeral—Funeral rites for Mrs. Rowina Polk Voorhees, who died Tuesday, were conducted at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at her late home, 508 East Center st. by the Rev. Lawrence A. Wood, who Sunday takes up his duties as pastor of Trinity Baptist church. Burial was in Marion cemetery.

Awarded Scholarship—Miss Virginia C. Hecht, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Hecht, of Pittsburgh, well known in this city, and a granddaughter of Mrs. Nellie Hoberman, of this city, has been awarded a scholarship by the Inter-Sorority Council, according to word received here. Miss Hecht is a junior in the College of Fine Arts, Carnegie Institute of Technology, and a graduate of Allegheny High school, class of 1925.

Return Home—George C. Lockwood and daughter, Therese, West Columbia st., have returned from Wellsville, N. Y., where they were called on account of the death of Mrs. Jesse Burdick.

DEMONSTRATION AND SALE

Finest Aluminum

November 30 December 1-3-4

Mrs. Grace Beckwith, a representative from MIRRO factory, will instruct you in the use of MIRRO Vapo-Seal utensils, which are constructed in the most approved manner for preparing all meals by the economical, healthful and waterless cooking process. They seal the natural flavors and health building elements in the food—there is no waste, only a very low fire is needed. This saves fuel, requires no "pot watching" and prevents scorching. This is an excellent opportunity to see the newest way of cooking demonstrated.

You are cordially invited to attend:

The Trend of the Times

A Personal Word

Merchandising conditions have undergone a very marked change during the past ten or fifteen years.

The keynote of it all has been—TO ELIMINATE in so far as possible, excessive DISTRIBUTION COSTS, thereby placing merchandise in the ultimate consumers' homes at a minimum cost.

In harmony with this merchandising trend, the Direct Manufacturing Company, of Wapakoneta, whose predecessors for more than forty years have been engaged in the manufacture and distribution of wood products, has been created for the purpose of selling its practically complete line of furniture direct to the user through its own county stores.

Some weeks ago I was solicited by the Direct Manufacturing Company to supervise their Marion County store.

After a careful study and analysis of the entire Direct plan and its sponsoring personnel, a list of whom appears in this announcement, I became sincerely convinced that it was sound and equitable in every detail, and provided a method whereby furniture can be placed in the home at a much lesser cost than heretofore—not for a day, week or month, but for ALL TIME.

Therefore, I have accepted the supervision of the Marion County store of the Direct Manufacturing Co. which opens tomorrow, firm in the belief that we can serve the people of Marion County economically and efficiently in their furniture requirements.

We will operate a ONE PRICE store, either cash, or through a fair and reasonable Time Payment Plan.

We cordially invite everyone to call and inspect our new store, at any time.

COAST GUARDSMEN KILL BOAT OWNER

Defend Action in Firing on Pair; Thought Vessel Rum Runner, They Say

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Nov. 30—Two coast guardsmen today defended their action in firing the shots which killed Carl Anderson of Lewiston, N. Y., and seriously wounded Edmund Sabr of Niagara Falls, early yesterday while they were cruising in Lake Ontario in a cabin cruiser bought by the coastguardsmen to be a rum runner. The boat was running without lights, but no liquor was found in it.

The coast guardsmen said they thought that the boat, "The Bug," was returning ti Canada after delivering a cargo of ale to the United States. They first sighted the craft a half mile off the American coast near Youngstown, N. Y.

Maurice McCune, commanding the United States coast guard cutter 250, ordered the occupants to stop. When this command was ignored McCune and Roy Rush, a member of the crew, opened fire with a machine gun. They placed five shots across the bow of the cruiser. When "The Bug" began to circle around as if preparing to ram the chaser, the coast guardsmen said, they opened fire a second time.

Anderson was shot in the forehead and was killed instantly. The cruiser drifted ashore and Sabr jumped from the boat. The machine gun bullets struck him in the shoulder and chest.

Sabr, held at the hospital today, asserted that he and Anderson were merely "out for a ride."

The case is somewhat similar to the fatal shooting of Jacob D. Hanson, secretary of the Niagara Falls Elks, on May 6 last.

Curiously enough, Chris Dew, a companion of the coast guardsmen who shot Hanson, was the third man in the cutter yesterday. He did not fire at Anderson and Sabr, however.

FLYING LIQUOR?

Two Charged with Transporting Whisky to Iowa by Plane

Marshalltown, Ia., Nov. 30—Leonard Carothers, one of the best known aviators in this section, and Milo Hilton of Cleveland, O., were under arrest here today on a charge of transporting whisky from Windsor, Canada. Their bond was set at $1,000 each.

The men were arrested when their plane was forced down near Marshalltown. Whisky valued at $4,000 was confiscated. The liquor was being transported to Cedar Rapids for the Thanksgiving trade, it was said. Friends of Carothers from Cedar Rapids came here to make his bond.

Hilton learned to fly at Akron and a few months ago went to Des Moines where he bought a plane. Dry officials say he has been "flying liquor" from Windsor to Iowa all summer.

ENTERTAINS AT DINNER

POTENTIAL NATIONAL CHAMPS BEATEN BY OREGON, 23 TO 13

Southern Methodists Dropped by Texas Christian in Another Upset

BY DAVIS J WALSH

NEW YORK Nov 30—Still dazed and suffering from lacerations as painful as ever its pride and vanity had known the east today continued prattling aimlessly about the miracle that was enacted at the Yankee stadium with the defeat of New York university's championship candidate by Oregon Aggies. There is little accounting of course for what may happen on any football field but after yesterday's amazing development human credulity simply had snapped its bonds. Even at this moment there is said to be a suspicion abroad that John L Sullivan really was a French Canadian after all.

Twenty four hours ago they were hailing New York university as potentially and actually the greatest football team the country over. This was a most reprehensible thing to do as precedent has proved but—hadn't N Y U run up 25 points on Carnegie Tech and didn't this make N Y U the greatest since Tech itself previously had been the greatest. For hadn't Tech run up 27 points on Notre Dame which because of its victory over the Army had become the greatest in its turn? Yes, yes yes spoken rapidly and with rising inflection.

Unable To Win In West

What therefore, did that make Oregon Aggies which hadn't been able to beat its own field—the far west. You will find the answer today in the dictionary under the word miraculous. The outfit that travels 000 miles to beat a team like N Y U can be no less than this. The Aggies performance which made coast football look quite swank on the basis of sectional comparisons and officially laid the ghost of all eastern *alibis over trans-continental journey*ings was the miracle of as hysterical a season as ever the game has produced.

As miracles go however it was outclassed by a circumstance which I trust will be excused by those whose tolerance is large. The 98 per cent wrong club had a very bad day. It was only 19 per cent wrong and may have to apply for a writ of mandamus. It isn't quite sure just what this is but feels confident that only something like a mandamus, its natural ferocity sharpened by days of confinement, can avert the tragedy.

Texas Wins

Anyhow it was a day that had something in common with the lioness and her cub. Business of reciting the old bromide of the lady lion which having admitted that she spawned only one cub, said "Yes but it's a lion!" Upsets yesterday were climacteric in character but very few in number. The Aggies—N Y U affair tops this short list followed by Southern Methodists defeat by Texas Christian Washington's victory over Washington State and Kentucky's scoreless tie with Tennessee.

In the east Pennsylvania's 10 to 0 rout of Cornell N Y U's defeat and Pitt's 5 to 0 victory over Penn State left the matter looking like a laundry ticket. Nebraska, of course remained in sole charge of its sectional affairs with an 8 to 0 victory over Kansas State the short score being the result of the Huskers recent jump east and bad Oklahoma's defeat of Missouri wasn't exactly what the doctor ordered but it didn't disturb Nebraska's position.

Out in the Rockies Utah took the title for the second straight year with its impressive victory over the Aggies while the coast fully recognizes Southern California as its best. The southwest may have a champion but it is holding it out on the rest of the country. Oklahoma A&M under go the famous blindfold test and came Texas because of its 19 to 0 decision yesterday over the Aggies.

OHIOAN NAMED

by John W. Heisman

IN 1923 no rule existed at W & J debarring freshmen from varsity football but one was passed the next year. Bill Amos fresh from A L F laurels and Kiski's wreaths was out with the squad that fall. The writer was coaching W & J that year and one of the first men my eye lighted on was this rugged able looking chap. He played as he looked and made the team in a walk.

The first big game was against Brown University. After two plays it was our ball on our three yard line. We just gave it to Bill Bam!—right through their tackle for six then for four through center then seven through guard. We just fed it to Bill and like ancient Moses he carried us right out of our troubles to midfield where we kicked to their five yard line. We were out of danger.

A BOUT this time Brown made a change and the tackle taken out hurried to his coach and said "Coach put in the best man you've got, that's a helluva team out there and that full back must be the Devil."

A few minutes later Bill still running plunged across the line but carelessly dropped the ball. Directly we took it away from them and again Bill ripped over like a honey bust going through wet tissue paper. He kept it up until we had 21 first downs to their two.

In the second half he went 70 yards on a clean thrust straight ahead inside their tackle. Have you ever heard of anything like that from a freshman? We won of course with Bill's madman playing.

SAME year—Thanksgiving Day We are playing the University of West Virginia at Morgantown. The mountaineers have just won 20 straight—one tie in the lot. They have a great team working. Tubby Spears' Dartmouth shift to perfection the field is muddier than any hog wallow and rain is still pouring. We decide none of our carefully designed and practiced plays can go in such mud—nothing to do but watch them fumble and punt an await our chance.

We do that very thing—get under their shift stop it the punt and keep this up. And Bill does all the punting. West Virginia fumbles at least 10 times in the game—that's because she's taking chances—trying to run that wet ball. Bill never fumbles a time the whole game. Always he gets that wet heavy ball off for from 40 to 60 yards and so keeps it deep in their territory. At last they fumble again close to their goal and this time we get it rap it over now for the only touchdown of the game and win. Bill has saved us—through 60 minutes of flawless booting, and also by doing his full share in backing up the line and tackling those fierce runners. Whenever I think of Bill my mind goes instantly to those two games. Remember—a freshman!

YOU all know the many truly wonderful things Bill has done in many tough games he's played in since then but I like to think of how cool how fearless how steady he was as a freshman. I never saw a man who could get into a line as quickly as he unless it was Ramsay of Cornell. I never saw one who knifed through the barrier and was off for a long gallop so often as he. It was the combined speed judgment and power of his assault that put him through so often. And when he got in the open I think a fresh and eager runner to get to him. Oh he could tear magnificently! He could punt with the peerless Thorpe, could pass with the mighty Mahan could block like great Guyon and he could tackle like Gerald Daly.

Fine boy—Bill. Kept his mouth shut took orders behaved himself never gave trouble and set a tip top example for other freshmen. I am glad now to have this opportunity to let him know how much I appreciated him.

Never have I seen a freshman who could compare with him on the gridiron. What must he have been in his senior years poison oak poison ivy poison gas and crazy cobras all rolled up into one pill.

KNOWS NO WORDS TO TELL OF JOY KONJOLA BROUGHT

Serious Ugly Stomach Symptoms Are Quickly Eliminated by Short Treatment of New Remedy

MR. ASA L. POWELL

My stomach had been in bad condition for five years and on top of that was a victim of habitual constipation but Konjola quickly and permanently restored my health," said Asa L. Powell, 114 Edward st, Youngstown, Ohio

So many stomach symptoms came to me after each meal that life was a constant round of suffering. Gas bloating, belching, spells and dizzy spells were among them. Chronic constipation made conditions all the worse and although I took strong laxatives they only had temporary effect. I tried every medicine available but it was all to no effect and was very discouraged.

How can I ever describe what Konjola has done for me? Words are worthless. I have been restored to glorious health by only a short treatment of this medicine. All the symptoms I told you about have been permanently banished and I feel sure relief is permanent. I eat whatever I want without suffering afterward and constipation is a thing of the past. I indorse Konjola whenever I can because I know what it can do."

Konjola is different than any other remedy in this section. It contains twenty-two juices extracted from medicinal plants which invigorate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to more healthy action. The effect of Konjola on the entire system is amazing relief in cases of suffering that has been going on for years. At the same time, many weak rundown systems have been restored to a new state of health through this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this medical product, until now, Konjola is the most highly indorsed medicine that is known in this section.

Konjola is sold in Marion at Stoll & Sams pharmacy and by all the best druggists throughout this section.—Adv.

Upper Sandusky Wins, Bucyrus Loses In Final Grid Games

LARGE CROWD SEES CAREY DEFEATED

Wyandot County Teams See Last Game of Season

FIELD SOGGY

Upper Team Takes Victory by Score of 37 to 0

Upper Sandusky, Nov. 30—Upper Sandusky pigskin warriors romped away to victory in their annual clash with Carey high played at Harrison Smith park field yesterday afternoon with the largest crowd of rooters present this season lining both sides of the field. The final score stood 37 to 0 in favor of Upper Sandusky.

For years rivalry between these two teams has been keen, with Upper holding the edge on games won for the past several years. In the game yesterday Carey was completely outclassed, being compelled to play on the defensive throughout the entire tilt. The ball was in Upper's hands for the most part of the game with the last quarter being a continual march down the field for touchdown after touchdown. Upper used many different plays, keeping Carey guessing as to what strategy they were going to employ next. Longer passes in effect by the locals enabled them to make greater gains. Both teams went into action Thursday with players in the best of condition. On the local squad every player was in the game, the second team being sent in repeatedly. Carey used few substitutions. A wet, soggy field slowed up the game. The line-up:

Upper 37	Pos.	Carey 0
Voelker	LE	Robinson
Switzer	LT	Wentling
Shuman	RT	Gardner
Garner	RE	McDaniel
Boltsh	RG	Heck
Farris	LG	Hudson
Ritterspach	C	McKee
Dunit	LH	Kisler
Fritchie	RH	Sherrer
McDaniel	FB	Diller
Good	Q	Smiley

Harman, Upper's prize quarter back, went in for Good toward the end of the first quarter. Officials for the game were Dunwoody and Margulis of Ohio Northern, referee and umpire, and M. E. Welmer, head linesman without authority.

HOLD UNION MEET

Baptist Pastor Delivers Sermon at Kenton Church

Kenton, Nov. 30—Plea for greater service to God and the program of the church was sounded by Rev. A. W. Snow, pastor of the First Baptist church, in addressing the annual community Thanksgiving Day union services held in St. John's Evangelical church.

The services, sponsored by the Kenton Ministerial association, were held on Wednesday evening instead of Thanksgiving Days as in the past, and whether or not this plan is to be continued will be left to a vote of the different congregations.

DISTRICT BRIEFS

RADNOR—The B. Y. P. U. of the Baptist church enjoyed a Thanksgiving social Tuesday night in the church parlors. Games and contests were enjoyed. Awards were won by Mrs. Harold Snyder, and Junior Reed. Refreshments were served. Guests were Marjory Comm and Margaret Jane Thomas.

CARDINGTON—Professor C. M. Butler of the Cardington public schools has been chosen as chairman of the Salvation Army drive to be held here Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 4 and 5. The army's quota for Cardington is $300.

CARDINGTON—Colonel Alfred L. Moudy of the 150th field artillery, U. S. army will speak at the Cardington high school auditorium, Monday night, Dec. 3— The subject of his address is "The Rock of Liberty."

CARDINGTON — The Institute Players will give the play, "Between Two Lives," Tuesday night. H. S. Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Nettie Cates have the leading roles in the three-act drama. The cast consists of 14 local citizens.

MT. VICTORY—Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Simpson moved Tuesday from the Mile Phelps farm to the Shultz farm, south of here, which they recently purchased.

BUCYRUS—"Greenwich Village" from "Round the World in New York," was the title of a paper read by Mrs. J. W. Miller, at the meeting of the Crocus Junior club Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. J. Walter Wright, 1020 Marion rd. Delta Dimon read an article on O'Neil's plays as a part of the program. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Clarence Metzger. The next meeting will be Dec. 13 at the home of Miss Delta Dimon, with Mrs. A. C. Pfisterer, as assistant hostess.

RADNOR—The Rev. T. O. Reed, chaplain of the Ohio State penitentiary, delivered the Thanksgiving sermon at annual service in observance of the day, Tuesday night at the Radnor Baptist church. The service was arranged as a community meeting and was well attended. The collection was turned over for community charity.

HARPSTER—Miss Luella Hook, who sustained a fractured jaw when she was struck by an automobile recently, is reported to be improving.

KENTON—There is some assurance that the proposed state highway connecting Marion with Indian Lake, via LaRue and Bellcenter will be built. The road will come due west from LaRue crossing state route No. 53 between Bellecenter and Kenton or there is a possibility that the new route would go through Mt. Victory and Ridgeway in which case it would come into Bellecenter on the cemetery road instead of the Ellistown pike from route 53. The state highway commission now has the proposition under consideration.

DISTRICT COURT ENDS SESSION

Disposes of 14 Cases in Two-Day Meet at Mt. Gilead

AFFIRM FIVE CASES

Demurrer To Be Heard in Mansfield Session Jan. 8

Mt. Gilead, Nov. 30—The District Court of Appeals ended a two-day session here Wednesday by completing the list of 14 cases on the docket. All of these cases were submitted but one and orders made in all but two others which were taken under advisement.

Perpetual injunction was ordered in the case of Lewis George against the county commissioners, which became known as the forty five cent case.

Five cases were affirmed by the district court. They are: In the matter of exceptions, etc., Sarah E. Shearer against Marlin Craven; T. A. Bostice and others against Charles W. Hunt; Hydraulic Press Mfg Co against The Gregersten Bros.; Andrew Bailey against Sarah Jane Bailey; Lottie Levering against John V. Pittman. All of these actions were in error, the plaintiff in error being defeated in the lower court, with judgment affirmed in the court of appeals.

The case of Louis Dehmer against J. E. Campbell and others was dismissed. In the case of J. E. Campbell against Ivah J. Taylor and others a demurrer was recently filed by defendant Dehmer to the second amended petition, and counsel for the plaintiff objected to submitting this on short notice. Hearing on the demurrer will be held Jan. 8 in Mansfield, where the court will then hold session. The case of J. W. Barry against A. W. Simpson and the case of E. O Russell against Ralph Russel and others were taken under advisement.

The court passed the case of John Heck and others against Wesley Schaaf and others, which will probably be submitted in the next session.

A motion in the case, an appeal, of Emma J. McCormick against Joan Kline, etc, was sustained.

Ten days was granted the plaintiff in error to file a brief in the case of J. M. Grace against the State of Ohio, error action. Louis E. Myers, counsel for the plaintiff in error, was not present to present the case.

An alternative writ of mandamus was allowed in the case of the State of Ohio ex rel Williams against the village of Cardington.

UPPER SANDUSKY—Ray Chester, of Sycamore who suffered a fractured skull when his automobile skidded and turned over in the ditch east of this city, Tuesday night remains in a critical condition according to reports from Mercy hospital, Tiffin, where he was taken. His companions, Glenn McIlroy and William Ahlefeld are recovering at their homes in Sycamore from lesser injuries recived in the accident.

Large Audience Greets Performers in Review Presented by Galion Elks

Galion, Nov. 30—The annual Elks charity entertainment sponsored by Galion lodge 1191 was presented last night at the high school auditorium and registered an immediate success with the representative audience attending. The show, of the review type, was titled the "Fashion Plate Revue" and was staged under the direction of J. P. Gorman of the John Rogers Producing company of Fostoria.

Theodore Schaefer was pianist, effectively accompanying the numbers, and Paul Wilson directed the orchestra which played accompaniments for the chorus work and presented selections between parts of the program.

Young People Dance

Included in the cast were prominent members of the organization assisted by a group of Galion's younger set who did dances and chorus numbers. One unique feature of the presentation was the second act when the entire cast appeared giving what is generally termed the finale of the show. Mrs Wayne Schreck sang the solo part in the number.

W. V. McIlvain was interlocutor in the minstrel star and the soloists included John Beeler A D Diamond, Matthew Hoekstra Tom Meldens, Irving Horowitz Robert Hilton, Charles Cowell, George Patterson, with a chorus of 8 voices.

Colorful and varied scenes formed the second part of the program with a picturesque French song and dance, the "Pelis" number and several clever skits. Miss Helen Paul appeared as soloist for several of the skits and Herbert Black was featured in one of the dancing numbers. Mr. Gorman gave a short tap dancing number and appeared with C. F. Unehrich and Bert Bradley in a comedy sketch.

One of the hits of the affair was made by Miss Dorothy Nickels and Miss Marjorie Casey, who, representing Topsy and Eva, danced and sang in the final act. "Uncle Tom's Cabin Up To Date" was the title of the closing skit with Merle Wheatcraft as Simon Legree, W. V. McIlvain as the steamboat captain and George Patterson as Uncle Tom. The second performance of the revue will be given tonight.

Dances and chorus members taking part included Wayne Schreck, John Black, Merle Wheatcraft, Tom Maddens, Herbert Black, Charles Klosner, Ralph Harter, Robert Lisse, Lemon Herr, Russel Nichols, Kay Lowers, Joe Hill, Theodore Boyd, A. D. Diamond, Arthur Schreck, Robert Hilton, George Patterson, Paul Wilhelm, Robert Marsh, John Beecher, Irving Horowitz, Everett Root, Charles Cowell, Charles Monroe, Jr., Matthew Hoekstra, Byrdell Whittridge, Lawrence Goldrick, Forrest Hahn, Ben Scarborough, Paul Balfinger, William Ryan, Harriet Fellenbaum, Norma Amann, Bernadette Flannery, Carol Pfeifer, Lucille Clements, Luella Knisely, Marjorie Kissel, Virginia Resch, Merial Weber, Ruth Mae Hornstein, Jean White, Louise Liggett, Virginia Hocker, Betty Strothers, Margaret Titus, Mary Louise Marsh, Frances Unehrich, Lucille Prosser, Jane Philip, Mary Frances Knight, Katharine Hencke, Elizabeth Seckle, Ruth Diamond, Katharine Cockley, Joyce Baldinger, Virginia Schreck, La Donna Herby, Margaret Moore, Harriet Wisterman, Ruth Tracht, Virginia McClure, Velma Resch, Elizabeth Blane, Marjorie Bosler, Pauline Mackey, Margaret Fiend, Lola Laughbaum.

Tom Daugherty and Ralph Thomas appearing as the Harmony Singers did several feature numbers that were especially enjoyable.

MT. GILEAD TEAMS DEFEAT OPPONENTS

Boys and Girls Basketball Players Journey to Centerburg

Mt. Gilead, Nov. 30—Mt. Gilead fives made a successful journey to Centerburg Wednesday night, defeating both Centerburg quintets by decisive scores. The local team showed remarkable passing skill and accuracy in shooting.

The boys' game ran rather close, neither side taking a decided lead, but the local team maintained a lead all through the game. The final score of the boys' game was 20 to 15 in favor of Mt. Gilead.

The girls game was taken by the decisive score of 21 to 8 in favor of the local team. Nichols lead the scoring for Mt. Gilead with 10 points and Rathburn second with 9.

Kathary of Marietta referred both games.

HARDIN COUNTY RESIDENTS DIE

Conduct Funeral Services for Mrs. Anna Poe and J. W. Lanning

Kenton, Nov. 30—Funeral services were held Thanksgiving Day for two prominent and lifelong residents of Hardin county, Mrs Anna Poe of south of here and James W. Lanning, 83, veteran of the Civil war.

Rites for Mrs. Poe whose death followed an illness of three weeks with complications, were held at the home in charge of Rev. G. W. Lyle, Roundhead, and Rev. B. F. McKinnon, of Richwood. Interment in the Roundhead cemetery.

Services for Mr Lanning were held at the Schindlewolf funeral home in charge of the Rev. D. Earl Rhoads, Methodist minister, with interment in Grove cemetery. The death of Mr. Lanning occurred at the home of his son, J. S. Lanning, following an illness of asthma and infirmities.

PAROCHIAL TEAM DEFEATS DUNKIRK

Kenton Alumni Basketball Players Lose to High School Quintet

Kenton, Nov. 30—Victory and defeat marked the formal opening of the basketball season here for the city's two major school teams—Kenton high and the St. Anthony's.

A capacity crowd was thrilled when the Catholic boys battled their way to a close 19 to 18 victory over Dunkirk high.

Play was nip and tuck throughout. Indications are that the parochials this season will be one of the strongest class B. clubs of the county and under the guidance of Dick Rubins, former high star, they will stand a more than even chance of copping honors in the county tourney next February.

In the girls' game the locals were drubbed 25 to 1 by the Dunkirk girls.

Greatly outweighed and pitted against men of long experience, the Kenton high club was unable to stem the victory march of the alumni and was drubbed 35 to 21 last night at the armory.

Despite the fact that they held an 11-point margin at the half whistle the grads, stars of former years, knew that they had been in a real battle. The Kenton lads displayed real form for their opening tilt and give promise of establishing a fair record despite their unusually stiff schedule this season.

PRESENT GIFT

Morrow County Bar Members Honor Judge Shields

MT. GILEAD, Nov. 30—In the closing session of the court of appeals here Wednesday the members of the Morrow County Bar and the officials of the local court presented Judge Robert S. Shields, of Canton, a gift remembering him for the 18 years of faithful service spent on the appellate bench of this district. Judge Shields will be succeeded by Clyde C Sherick who was victorius in the Nov. 6 election. The speech of presentation was made by J. W Barry, the oldest active member of the local bar.

The court of appeals as it presided here consisted of members Hon. Robert S. Shields, of Canton, Hon. Charles C. Lemert, of Zanesville, and Hon. Lewis B. Houck, of Mt. Vernon.

A. E. HUMISTON, 85, DIES AT BUCYRUS

Infirmities of Age Fatal to Civil War Veteran

Bucyrus, Nov. 30—Aubert E Humiston, Civil war veteran, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. Fred Vollmer, where he has made his home for 12 years at 1:20 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Death was attributed to infirmities of age.

Mr. Humiston was born Nov. 3, 1843, in New York state, the son of Louisa Sornguger and George Humiston. He was married Oct. 25, 1868, at Sulphur Springs, to Ella Squires with whom he celebrated his sixtieth wedding anniversary Oct 25, this year.

Mr. Humiston is survived by his widow and four children. Alva S. Humiston, Sandusky, Aesah Grove, Upper Sandusky, Mrs Fannie Davenport and Mrs. C. F. Vollmer of Bucyrus. Thirteen grandchildren, four great-grand children, and one brother, Frank L. Humiston, Delaware, also survive. Mr. Humiston was a member of the G. A. R. and of the St. Paul's Lutheran church.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the home with Rev. Roy S. Bowers, pastor of the St Paul's Lutheran church officiating. Burial will be made in the Union cemetery, east of Sulphur Springs.

BUCYRUS—About 125 were present Wednesday night when the members of the Eagles lodge entertained their wives and a few invited guests at a card party at the Eagles hall. Awards were won at five hundred by Mrs. H. S. Beistle and Henry Reiff. Refreshments were served.

SHELBY WINS BY 38 TO 0 SCORE

Disabled Player Sent in To Stop Opponents' March

ACCOMPANY TEAM

About 400 Bucyrus Rooters Go to Shelby for Tilt

Bucyrus, Nov. 30—With Monnett, main stay and star of the local team forced to the bench by illness, the Bucyrus team was defeated by a score of 38 to 0, in the last football game of the season, Thursday afternoon at Shelby, with the high school team from that city.

Bucyrus won the toss and chose to kick, Shelby winning the ball and going straight down the field in long gains for a touchdown in the first few minutes of play. Coach Winters, in an effort to stop their next march to the goal line, sent in Monnett, who although suffering from boils on the face, entered the game, equipped with special headgear to protect his face. Monnett, remained in the game for only four plays, however, after making a gain of seven feet, he was struck on the face and almost had to be carried off the field.

The crowd was one of the largest of the season, with a delegation of about 400 from Bucyrus. The lineup:

GO TO NEW YORK

Bucyrus Officers To Take Former Resident In Custody

Bucyrus, Nov. 30—Police Chief Philip Trautman and Attorney Clarence Ahl and Prosecutor L. H. Kreiter, left last night for New York for the purpose of returning to Bucyrus E. W. Quinn, former employe of the local branch of the Ohio Farmers Cooperative Milk station, who was arrested there Tuesday, after attempting to sell a large quantity of butter, embezzled from the local company, to a New York firm.

Quinn will be served with a warrant charging him with embezzlement of property valued at about $1,083.55 from the local milk company.

The officers are expected to return some time tomorrow with Quinn.

aths of Mason and Bowman Meet ften in Careers as School Officials

ATHS of two men figuring prominently in public life in city of Marion met for the time when members of the rion board of education early employed George A. wman, of Chillicothe, to suc- Jesse H. Mason as superin- dent of Marion public schools. Mr. Mason is preparing to take his duties as superintendent in nton and after this week will ide his time between that city Marion prior to Dec. 15 when successor will take charge re.

The man who will succeed him Marion is the same one who k his place at Chillicothe, out six years ago. That is gen- ally known to the public rough previous newspaper ac- unts. The coincidence, however, only one-phase of the unusual count of how the careers of ese two school officials have been closely linked through a long period of years.

Early Association

The lives of Mr. Bowman and Mr. Mason first came in contact when the former was employed as a teacher in rural schools near Sparta, a village in Morrow county, where Mr. Mason was serving as school principal. The second instance was when the two both selected Ohio State university for the furtherance of their respective educations.

The World war halted both careers and here the lives of the two school men again diverged—Mr. Mason entered the army and Mr. Bowman the navy.

Terminating his service in the war before Mr. Bowman, Mr. Mason went to Zanesville as high school principal. Little more than a year later the two paths crossed again when Mr. Bowman was employed as athletic manager and assistant principal of the Zanesville school.

Change at Zanesville

When Mr. Mason was called to the Chillicothe superintendency in 1923, he was succeeded at Zanesville by the assistant principal, Mr. Bowman.

Then in 1923 when Mr. Mason accepted the position of superintendent of Marion public schools, Mr. Bowman was employed as superintendent at Chillicothe and the two careers were again linked.

The fifth coincidental step in the two lives took place in the employment of Mr. Bowman here after Mr. Mason had accepted the position of superintendent of the Canton schools.

Mr. Bowman will take up his duties here about Dec. 15, which date Mr. Mason will definitely sever connections with the local school system.

The new superintendent is a native of this section of Ohio, having been born at Galion. He attended the public schools of both Edison and Mt. Gilead before graduating from Mt. Gilead high. After teaching at Sparta he studied at Western Reserve university, Cleveland before entering military service in April, 1917. Completing his war duties in October, 1919 he went to Zanesville and resumed the career which so closely follows that of Mr. Mason.

G. E. MOUSER, JR. TO GIVE ADDRESS

Congressman-Elect on Program at Labor Union Meeting Dec. 12

Congressman-elect Grant E. Mouser, Jr. will give the principal address at a meeting of the Marion Central Labor union to be held the night of Dec. 12, it was announced at a regular session of the organization held Wednesday night.

The address will be given in connection with a social and smoker to follow the union meeting.

It was also announced that the Central Labor Union has started a drive to double the union membership in Marion during the next six months and that a slogan to that effect has been adopted. This is a part of a national campaign for increased membership launched by the American Federation of Labor.

The Central Labor union voted to support Marion Musicians Local union, No. 531, in its efforts to eliminate unfair competition from dance bands coming in from outside the city. The union will be assisted in enrolling non-union musicians, it was stated.

The next regular meeting of Central Labor union is set for Dec. 6.

Hoover Puts Finishing Touches on Speech To Be Given in Ecuador

Aboard U. S. S. Maryland, (via Arlington, Va., Radio Station) Nov. 30.—President-elect Herbert Hoover elated over the success of his Central American visits, today put the finishing touches on the speech he will deliver tomorrow when he lands at Guayaquil, Ecuador. He was interrupted, however, by the "equatorial ceremonies, which are a tradition of the sea when a ship crosses the imaginary line dividing the northern and southern hemispheres.

This ceremony consists of initiating the persons who have never before crossed the equator, or the "polly wogs," as they are called by seafaring men. They ae conducted under the supervision of "King Neptune", A sailor dressed to represent the "old gentleman of the sea"——who appears with crown, whiskers and trident to see that the "polly wogs" are properly "ducked" in the tank on the quarter deck.

Guayaquil will be the first South American port touched by the president-elect on his good will tour of all Latin-America. Mr. Hoover is looking forward with pleasure to his visits in South America and is confident that they will do much good in cementing the friendship existing between the South and North American continents of America.

Mr. Hoover has received an invitation to stop over at Arica, Chile, but has not yet made a decision.

-o- The New Book -o-

BY FRANCES JENNINGS

WHEN "The Perennial Bachelor" was published several years ago a name of Anne Parrish, novelist, came into prominence and remained there through publication of "Tomorrow Morning" not long afterward. Appearance of "All Kneeling" this fall only enhanced the author's enviable popularity.

The new book is the story of a charming egotist—Christabel Caine—who wanted everything that others had—and selfishly sold on her birthright of charm to obtain them.

As a child Christabel was impetuous, quick to jealousy, and just delicate and lovely enough to be given first consideration in matters of consequence—and matters that were not of consequence too.

Upon the death of her beloved but neglected Uncle Johnnie, Christabel cried and every one sympathized with her when she said, "Sometimes I have felt as if Uncle Johnnie were the one person in the world who understood me."

Christabel was right in her belief, for shortly before that individual died he had said, in analyzing his attractive and talented niece, "Christabel loves Christabel. She is a sea-anemone. She takes the things that feel her, she rejects everything else. A sea-anemone looks like a delicate flower, pink or cream or lilac, with its tentacles moving as gently as petals in a breeze, but it can send out a shower of stinging tiny darts, and it can grasp what it wants."

DELL BOOK HEADS BEST SELLERS

IN compiling a list of best selling books of the month, Baker & Taylor Co. placed Ethel M. Dell's "The Gate Marked Private," first on the list. "Old Pybus," by Warwick Deeping was accorded second place, and "Silver Slippers," by Temple Bailey, third.

Others included were: "Jealous Gods," Gertrude Atherton; "Boston," Upton Sinclair; "Harness," A. Hamilton Gibbs; "Bad Girl," Vina Delmar; "Point Counter Point," Aldous Huxley; "Silas Bradford's Boy," Joseph C. Lincoln; and "The Children," Edith Wharton.

Any of the books included in the fiction list will be found light and entertaining reading. They are all representative of the type of books being read throughout the country at the present time.

A. A. Milne's newest juvenile, "The House at Pooh Corner," was given first place among general books and Edna St. Vincent Millay's new book of poems, "The Buck in the Snow," second.

Other books listed are: "John Brown's Body," Stephen V. Benet; "The Cross Word Puzzle Book," Series II; "Whither Mankind;" edited by Charles A. Beard; "Strange Interlude," Eugene O'Neil; "Rasputin, the Holy Devil," Rene Fulop-Miller; "The Angel That Troubled the Waters," Thornton Wilder; "Raiders of the Deep," Lowell Thomas; and "Three Boy Scouts in Africa," Doublas, Martin and Oliver.

WRITER POSSESSED VARIETY OF TALENTS

BOHUN LYNCH, who died recently at the age of 41, was the possessor of many diverse talents. He wrote both novels and essays, he had a shrewd gift of caricature, and he was a first-class amateur boxer. Two of his books, "History of Caricature," and "Respectibility," a novel, were published in this country by Little, Brown & Co.

BOOK OF UNUSUAL INTEREST TO WOMEN

JO VAN AMMERS - KULLER, Dutch woman novelist and playwright, has written in "The Rebel Generation," a novel which will make every intelligent woman wonder whether her "emancipation" has been worth the price. Also, whether she has ever been "emancipated" at all, and how far she is going to have to go before she finds the freedom she thinks she want:.

"The Rebel Generation" is a finely provocative book, not the sermon of an anti-feminist, but the dramatic presentation of a very real situation which every intelligent woman faces unless she holds herself apart from men and decides to "go it" alone.

Both denounced and praised in Holland, the book when published in this country was selected by the book league of America as their December book.

"WIT'S END" NAMED AS BOOK OF MONTH

"WIT'S END," by Viola Paradise, has been selected as the Dutton Book-of-the-Month for December It will be released Saturday.

When "The Pacer", Viola Paradise's first novel, was published in the spring of 1927, discerning readers and critics welcomed a book that was at once an accomplishment and a promise. Miss Paradise's second novel, "Wit's End," will appeal to a larger audience than did her first but it will also justify the expectations of the more critical of her first readers.

VALUABLE ADDITION TO DRAMATIC HISTORY

Surveying the dramatist's art from its origin in Greek rituals to its latest expression in Gordon Craig's stagecraft and Eugene O'Neill's experimental technique, "The Development of Dramatic Art," published this week, is one of the most important contributions of recent years to the literature of dramatic history and criticism. Donald Clive Stuart, the author and professor of dramatic art at Princeton university, brings to his subject a complete mastery, penetrating judgments and a distinctly readable style.

CRUSTY Peter Stuyvesant in a pensive mood, Anthony Van Corlear trumpeting lustily up Broadway, New York's first sidewalk peddler dangling "Yankee Enchantments" before the wishful eyes of early Dutch housewives, worthy burghers puffing reflectively—these and many more historical pleasantries by James Daugherty enliven the pageant of early Manhattan in a new edition of Irving's "Knickerbocker's History of New York," just published by Doubleday, Doran.

HUSBAND, WIFE LITERARY PARTNERS

THE names of Herman Matson and Susan Glaspell have been added to the list of famous husband-and-wife literary partnerships. Susan Glaspell has long been known to the reading public not only as a novelist but also as a playwright of note. Herman Matson is the author of what many critics consider to be the literary discovery of the current season—"Day of Fortune," the novel of American youth which has been mentioned as a strong contender for Pulitzer prize honors. The Matsons have a house in Provincetown, Cape Cod, and in the summer live on a farm at Truro, a few miles down the Cape from Provincetown. Susan Glaspell's new novel, "Brook Evans," and "Day of Fortune," were published within a few weeks of each other and each was dedicated to the author of the other. One read, "To Norman Watson," and the other, "For Susan."

268 Women Tried This Simplified Recipe

Not One Failed to Get Perfect Results!

Mixing Time, this gorgeous MARBLE CAKE, 11 minutes!

Mrs. Sidney Stokes is admiring her first baking with "Kitchen-tested" Flour

This Week's Prize "Kitchen-tested" Recipe

Whether you are a "lucky" baker or not, an inexperienced housewife or a bride, try this recipe. It's a new development in home baking, a simplified way that thousands are enjoying.

By the development of an utterly new type of flour—Gold Medal "Kitchen-tested" Flour—baking has been simplified amazingly for housewives. And the cause of most baking disappointments banished.

"Kitchen-tested" means that every batch of this flour has been tested in an oven just like yours, before it goes to you. Tested for uniformity of result with home recipes.

That means Gold Medal Flour always acts the same way EVERY TIME with your recipes.

Ask your grocer for GOLD MEDAL "Kitchen-tested" Flour. For perfect results, be sure and get that brand of flour before you try this recipe.

Cut out along this line and save

RECIPE.... Marble Cake

½ cup shortening, 2 cups sugar, 4 egg whites, 3 cups GOLD MEDAL "KITCHEN-TESTED" FLOUR, 3 tsp. baking powder, ½ tsp. salt, 1½ cups liquid, 2 tsp. vanilla, 1 sq. chocolate, ½ tsp. soda.

METHOD: 1. Cream shortening, add sugar gradually and cream well. 2. Add unbeaten egg whites one at a time and beat into mixture. 3. Sift flour once before measuring. 4. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt together and add alternately with liquid. 5. Add vanilla. 6. Add soda to melted chocolate. Divide batter in two parts, adding chocolate mixture to one of the parts. 7. Drop batter by teaspoonfuls into floured and greased cake tin alternating a spoonful of white batter with a spoonful of chocolate batter until all is used. 8. Bake. TIME: Bake 50 minutes. TEMPERATURE: 350° F., moderate oven. SIZE OF PAN: One large pan 12½x8½ inches or 2 loaf pans 4 x 8 inches. AMOUNT: 24 servings. Seven-Day Marble Cake: 2 cups sugar, ¾ cup water, ½ tsp. cream of tartar, 2 egg whites, 1 tsp. vanilla, 1 sq. chocolate, melted. METHOD: 1. Boil sugar, water and cream of tartar together until first indication of a thread appears, 234° F. 2. Pour hot syrup over stiffly beaten egg whites and beat with egg beater constantly. 3. Add vanilla and continue beating with spoon until mixture is fluffy and will hold its shape (about 15 minutes). 4. If this mixture does not set so that it will stay on cake, add 2 or 3 tbsp. powdered sugar, a tbsp. at a time until mixture is stiff enough. 5. Reserve 3 tbsp. of this mixture and spread rest over top and sides of cake. 6. Melt chocolate and add reserved icing. Spread chocolate mixture over white frosting on top of cake in ¼-inch stripe about 1 inch apart. Then draw a knife quickly across the stripe at 1-inch intervals. This gives a wavy, marbled effect.

WASHBURN-CROSBY COMPANY, Minneapolis, Minnesota

This and other delightful "Kitchen-tested" recipes are given every Wednesday and Friday in the Gold Medal Radio Cooking School. You are invited to listen in. BETTY CROCKER, Gold Medal Home Service Dept.

WOMAN CRITICAL, HUSBAND IS HELD

Man Charged with Attacking Wife; Blames Drug for Act

Pomeroyville Nov 30 — Charged with attacking his wife and beating her over the head with a flashlight William J MacMahon was held in the county jail here today, while his wife was reported in a serious condition at Memorial hospital

According to the story told by his wife the former Miss Mai Skull wagon, daughter of a Pittsburgh lawyer, the attack occurred early yesterday on an isolated section of the South Ridge rd, about two miles east of here

They had attended the Yale Harvard game Saturday and were returning to their home eight miles west of Conneaut after stopping off at Cleveland she said

When her husband began beating her she fell unconscious in the road but recovered and sought shelter in the farmhouse of Walter Reed The family locked the doors at her request and two men held shotguns in readiness while a telephone call was made to the sheriff

McMahon submitted quietly to arrest, outside the house In the county jail he declared he could remember nothing of the attack and said it must have resulted from the use of a narcotic which he administered to himself to alleviate pain from old wounds received while he was a member of the Royal Canadian Air Force during the World war

MacMahon said he was captain of the Yale freshman rowing crew in 1900 and carries a cigaret case which he says is a trophy of a victory over the Harvard crew

Local Postal Officials, Preparing for Christmas Rush, Issue Mailing Advice

The volume of mail during the holiday season increases approximately 100 per cent according to postal authorities and Marion residents will contribute their share to this increase, if the buying in the local stores is an indication of what is to follow as the mailing rush draws near

Hints for the mailing of various sorts of packages have been prepared at the local postoffice and the officials are in hopes that they will not be disregarded by those who desire prompt and efficient service The postoffice will make every effort to handle the Christmas mail without delay, but because of the enormous increase in mailing at this season of the year, this can be done only with the cooperation of the public Marionites are urged to mail early for delivery before Christmas day, on which there will be no mail delivery

Secure Wrapping Required

All parcels must be securely wrapped and strong paper and heavy twine used For those people who have the knobby idea of sending umbrellas, canes golf sticks, etc, the department requests that such packages be reinforced their full length by strips of wood, tightly wrapped and tied or otherwise sufficiently wrapped to stand transportation Tools should be packed in strong corrugated or fiber boxes and ordinary waste board boxes must be crated Ladies hats and stiff hats easily damaged should be marked fragile

Some persons will send shoes so these in charge of mailing have found, and these must be packed in strong boxes preferably corrugated cardboard wrapped with strong paper and securely tied with heavy twine Cut flowers should be placed in strong suitable boxes of wood tin or heavy corrugated cardboard and wrapped with tissue to retain the moisture

Guard Against Damage

Pack or wrap drawings paintings, unmounted maps, etc, in strong material to avoid damage When not flat, roll around a wooden core and then wrap and tie carefully, or place in strong cardboard tube Sharp-pointed or sharp-edged instruments or tools must have points and edges fully guarded to prevent injury to clerks in handling or damage to other mail They must be crated suitably or thoroughly wrapped so that they can not cut through the wrapping

All articles easily broken or damaged must be plainly marked fragile" and liberal quantities of excelsior, or like material wrapped in, around and between the articles and the outside of the container

Glassware fragile toys and crockery must be packed so as to prevent the escape of particles or pieces if broken in transit Ordinary boxes of cigars wrapped in paper only will not be accepted Packed in a manner to prevent damage by shock or jar and wrapped in corrugated pasteboard or similar material, they will be assured a safe delivery

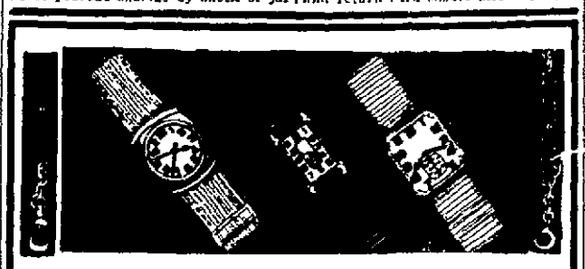

For Perishable Articles

Articles likely to spoil within the time reasonably required for transportation and delivery will not be accepted for mailing All such parcels must be marked 'perishable' and special-delivery stamps used, to expedite delivery

One of the most exasperating items in the postoffice is the address They should be complete, with house number and the name of the street post office box, or rural route number, and typed or plainly written in ink A return card should be placed in the upper left corner of every piece of mail If a tag is used, the address and return card should also be written on the wrapper for use if the tag is lost and a copy of the address should be inclosed inside the parcel

Affix the require amount of postage in the upper right corner, as all postage must be fully prepaid on all mail Full information concerning postage rates may be obtained at the parcel-post or stamp window

No parcel may be more than 84 inches in length and girth combined For local delivery and in the first, second and third zones, 70 pounds is the maximum weight, in all other zones 50 pounds.

Now that we have our complete Christmas stock in we urge our customers make their Christmas selections early and have them laid back till Christmas while the stock is full of many snappy items

Do not wait till the rush begins and then be disappointed We have some very special prices now on—Diamonds—Watches—Clocks—Silverware and all Jewelry Items for the early buyer.

WOMEN PRINTERS WORK IN ENGRAVING BUREAU

Washington—Women printers in the U. S. Bureau of Engraving and Printing are under more strain than Treasury department stenogs, their union heads protested to Secretary of Treasury Andrew W. Mellon. The union is attempting to obtain the 30 days maximum and 10 days minimum sick leave each year for the female linotype operators and typesetters granted all other women employees of the Treasury Department.

The union pointed out the feminine printers are subject to high-stool work but are given no sick-leave. Days lost by illness are deducted from their annual vacation.

This action followed the charge recently made by an organization of women government workers that certain department heads "give flappers preference to the best positions."

Where does that delicious flavor come from?

What makes some baked foods taste so much better than others? Ask the wise old cook—she'll tell you this finer flavor comes from Pillsbury's Best Flour, because Pillsbury's Best is made only from certain kinds of carefully selected, full-flavored wheat.

Ask the food editors of women's magazines—women who have studied baking all their lives. They'll tell you to choose your flour carefully—that flour has a lot to do with the flavor of the foods you bake. Try it yourself—use Pillsbury's Best the next time you bake—you'll notice a delicate, unmistakably richer flavor in all your foods!

General Motors To Turn Truck Making Business Over to Yellow

"BIG MOVE" STILL ON

Market Elated Over Foreign Trade Figures for Year

BULLETIN

New York, Nov. 30—The steam-roller bull movement in the high-priced market favorites struck a snag today, when the banks made a hurry call for $50,000,000 from the call loan market and the call rate shot upward to 10 per cent. The banks wanted the money to pay the December interest and dividends, an ever mounting and expanding drain on their money chests.

The resourceful bulls shifted over to the railroad stocks and the better class of oils and coppers, carrying everything before them in a cyclone of whirlwind upward sweeps of the Standard Oils, New York Central Railroad, Anaconda Copper and other stocks in that group.

BY W. S. COUSINS
I. N. S. Financial Editor

New York, Nov. 30—The pent-up enthusiasm for stock speculation, held back by the closing of the exchange Thanksgiving day, burst forth at the beginning of trading today. The wild rush showed conclusively that the "big move" is still rolling relentlessly forward.

In the first half the turnover was 1,300,000 shares—another 13,000,000-share day in the making if the pace could be maintained.

Here is a part of the record of first sales making up the biggest half-hour in Wall Street history: 25,000 shares of Radio-Keith-Orpheum at 40, up 3½; 21,000 shares Consolidated Gas at 113, up 5¾; 25,000 shares National Power and Light at 45½, up 1½; 10,000 shares Public Service of N. J.; 5,000 to 10,000 shares of a dozen or more of the speculative favorites.

Bulls in Wall Street were elated with foreign trade figures for 1928 reported from the Washington Bureau of International News Service. Uncle Sam will sell $800,000,000 more to the rest of the world than he buys, in 1928, according to these estimates which place the out-going trade of the year at $4,985,000,000 and the incoming purchases from foreign market at $4,100,000,000. The gain in exports over last year was $115,000,000. Big business abroad; big business at home; more profits for all; more money in the pay envelope; will make for big bull markets in stocks.

New York City gas and electric light stocks to the front. That was a rallying cry of the bulls as huge blocks of New York City Gas and Electric stock passed over the counter at the highest prices in history. Brooklyn Union soared today to above 200 for the first time, a price more than 100 points above the low of the year. Consolidated Gas, National Light and Power, Utilities Light and Power and North American Co. jumped three to six points.

General Motors told the stock exchange today that it had been selling Yellow Truck in the open market and had disposed of 164,500 shares. That accounts for the sluggishness of the stock until the last week or two, when it suddenly jumped 20 points to 67¾. General Motors will turn its truck manufacturing business over to Yellow, making it the biggest motor truck builder in the world.

TODAY'S REVIEW OF GRAIN MARKET

Chicago, Nov. 30—Domestic grain exchanges were all closed yesterday in observance of Thanksgiving Day. Foreign wheat markets all ruled weak and lower.

Liverpool was decidedly weak with free offerings of Argentine wheat, closing 5¾@1¼c lower. Buenos Aires was unchanged to ½c down in mild session. Under the influence of these markets, prices on the Winnipeg exchange were also lower.

All the news of foreign markets was bearish. However, advices from Winnipeg said their market was fairly firm at the outset, due to purchases made against export sales of fair volume, made overnight. Export business yesterday was rather dull.

The following is Logan & Bryan's Winnipeg grain letter:

"Winnipeg market opened fractionally lower, influenced by decided weakness of Liverpool and Buenos Aires markets. Some little buying around the opening against export sales held prices steady for the first half hour but with hedging sales and long liquidation in fair volume prices weakened. Argentine advices continue decidedly bearish. Harvest is general in that country, with every indication of a record yield.

"Country marketings in western Canada, while slowing up somewhat, are still large, Wednesday's receipts at country points being 3,100,000 bu. Export demand for Canadian wheat is diminishing, the European buyer evidently turning his attention to Argentine wheat, which is offered freely. Cash demand at Winnipeg is slow.

"Statistically the position of wheat is bearish, with nothing in sight in the immediate future to bring about any enhancement in values.

"Coarse grains fractionally easier, following decline in wheat prices."

There seems, at the present time, to be little in the wheat market to encourage the holder of the grain. All of the statistics are bearish and early this week weather conditions in the Argentine had improved greatly without having reached enough of an adverse state to affect the crop to any great extent.

Changing of commitments from the December to the May futures has made up the bulk of the wheat trade for the past week and price levles have changed very little in that time. In the light of weak foreign markets yesterday and further evening up transactions in expectation of the initial delivery on December contracts tomorrow, today's trade will probably be featureless with slightly lower prices.

Corn continues largely a weather affair. Prices were up a little Wednesday on the bad weather over the belt. Shorts in the December are rather uneasy when conditions are adverse for the movement, in view of the low stocks and the large open interest in that month.

A radical is one who doesn't want to remodel the house, but to tear it down with all the inhabitants in it.

There are inferior people, it is true; but they can often surpass their betters in affection.

Report Record Sales Here for Thanksgiving

The heaviest sale of cranberries in years resulted here Wednesday as housewives laid in supplies for the annual Thanksgiving day dinner, according to local retailers this morning. By noon they realized that the day would be as big or bigger than the usual Saturday. By 4 o'clock the majority of the retailers and all of the wholesalers in the city were sold out of cranberries.

Large sales of green stuffs on Wednesday were also reported by local dealers. Housewives bought everything in the line of green vegetables. This feature of the day's sales brought it up to the proportions of Saturday.

A rise in the price of cranberries was expected by retailers here this morning as a result of the exhausted condition of the market following Wednesday's heavy sales.

Wholesalers realize that every bobber of cranberries in the city is sold out and that a majority of the retailers are also and will endeavor to take advantage of this situation by raising the price, retailers believe.

No price changes were reported on the fruit, vegetable, and meat markets of the city this morning.

WEAR JEWELS

London Society Women Participate in Brilliant Display

London—Society women, acting as mannequins, staged one of the most costly and brilliant displays of jewelry and gowns ever seen in London recently.

The occasion was a charity matinee organized by the League of Mercy, in which several members of the British royal family are interested.

Four of the women performers walked across the stage wearing jewelry worth $2,500,000, while at one time gems worth $10,000,000 were seen by the audience.

Behind the scenes were detectives in unobtrusive attendance. The tables from which the mannequins took their temporary ornaments were under close surveillance and as each women walked on to the stage a detective stood in the wings.

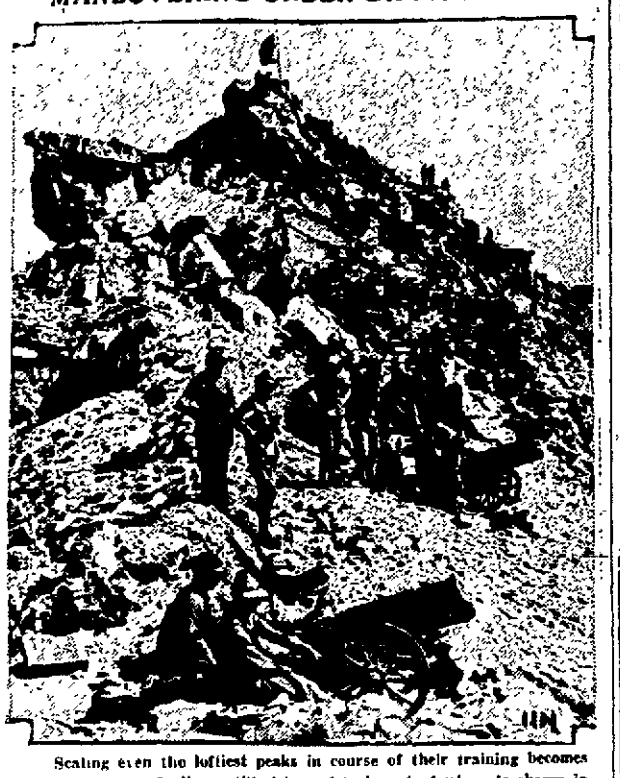

Lady Horne, wife of Sir Allen Horne, an East Indian merchant, who organized the pageant, wore a necklace worth $250,000, three diamond rings and a ruby bracelet.

In the cafeteria of life only the best of everything comes to the man who waits on himself.

MANEUVERING UNDER DIFFICULTIES

Scaling even the loftiest peaks in course of their training becomes second nature to Italian artillerists, a detachment of whom is shown in the above picture high up on a mountain in northern Italy with mortars ready for action. The picture is one of a series taken by order of Il Duce for illustrating correct mountain technique.

GENEVA NAMED

Swiss Waiter's Remark Sends League of Nations To City

London—A Swiss waiter was responsible for the selection of Geneva as the headquarters of the League of Nations.

This somewhat farcical disclosure is made by William Martin, the foreign editor of the "Journal de Geneve," in his book, "Statesmen of the War," just published.

Colonel House, according to Martin, was asked by President Wilson to decide on some town in a neutral country as headquarters for the League.

"Like all persons of delicate health," writes Martin, "Colonel House attached great importance to climate, all the more so because he contemplated having to stay frequently himself in the town selected. He had been assured the climate of Lausanne was the better, and this argument impressed him.

"One day, however, he exclaimed, 'I have come to a decision at last. We shall go to Geneva.'

"On being questioned as to his reasons for this sudden change, he replied: 'The waiter who brings me my chocolate says Geneva is the better town to live in. Lausanne is too hot in summer.'"

NO ATTEMPTS

Air Speed Record To Stand Until Next Year

London—No further attempts to beat the existing world's air speed record will be made by the British air ministry until next spring, it is learned.

Some disappointment is felt in aeronautical circles that Flight Lieut. D'Arcy Grieg, noted air force speed pilot, was unable to eclipse the Italian speed record in his recent flight at Southampton.

Grieg, although he flew at the fastest speed ever attained by an airman, was two miles an hour short of the requisite margin of five miles an hour needed to break the record of 318 m. p. h. set up by Major Bernhardi, the Italian speedster, early this year.

English weather conditions preclude any further attempts being made this winter.

If a woman could retain her beauty forever she might in some instances get along without brains.

Throat sore? take TONSILINE

Throat irritation, inflammation, difficulty in swallowing and other unmistakable signs of sore throat are conditions that can speedily develop into serious ills.

Be warned by them. Take no chances with cure-all antiseptics or hit or miss remedies, but use Tonsiline—the one remedy made especially for sore throat—nothing else. Successfully used for over 30 years. At your drug-gist's, 35c and 60c. Hospital size $1.00.

IRISH ARMY ANGRY

Recent Orders Issued By FitzGerald on Wearing Uniforms

Dublin—Desmond FitzGerald, Minister for Defense has made the Irish Army very angry. He has ordered all officers to wear uniforms whether off or on duty, a law that is not enforced in England or any neighboring country. Free State officers are very resentful.

Officers in uniform on and off duty are obliged to carry the military atmosphere with them everywhere and in a country where politics are the talk of life this will not add to their comfort or well being. It will on the contrary tend to keep the army and the people apart and will prevent officers from taking part in many of the sporting activities they are accustomed to.

Under the new regulations they are compelled to ask leave for every occasion on which they don't wear their uniforms and every month a return is made of those who did and did not ask leave even to play tennis

EUROPEAN CITIES TALK TO TRAINS BY PHONE

Hamburg—The train telephone system inaugurated a year or more ago on the fast trains between Hamburg and Berlin, has been so perfected that foreign postal officials delegates to a convention in Berlin telephoned from their train to the home offices in the Hague, Stockholm, Copenhagen, Danzig and even Budapest.

The connections were quickly made and quite as clear as the best long telephone service.

YALE ENDOWMENT FUND NOW AT 58 MILLIONS

New Haven, Conn.—Yale University started its present year with a total endowment fund of $58,021,43 an increase of almost $9,000,000 a year. As a result of the slump in the security markets the book value of the holding gained $3,595,076 the year.

Yale's investments yield an average of 5.15 per cent. The figures are contained in the annual report of the treasurer, George Parmley Day.

TURKS WILL TAKE CRESCENT FROM FLAG

Constantinople—Not content with changing the alphabet, eliminating certain time-honored sartorial customs, and persuading women to relinquish wearing the veil, the Turkish authorities now propose to alter the national flag.

The present flag, consisting of a crescent with a large star between the horns, would be altered so that the crescent becomes a C, standing for Chumhurist (Republic). A star would be placed at the upper left of the C, which would be transferred to the initial T, for Turk in memory of Mustafa Kemal Pasha.

NEW TRIAL ASKED IN CROSSING CASE

C. D. & M. Files Motion To Have White Oaks Verdict Set Aside

In a motion filed in common pleas court the Columbus, Delaware & Marion Electric Co, asks the court to set aside the verdict of the jury in the White Oaks crossing case and to grant the company a new trial

A jury in the court last Tuesday awarded the electric company $658 as damages and compensation for a crossing over the company's tracks, connecting White Oaks rd with Prospect pk In the motion the C, D & M claims that the amount granted is not sufficient

In arguments before the jury last Tuesday W P Moloney attorney for the electric company asked for damages and compensation totalling nearly $1,000 The county claimed that compensation of $100 would be sufficient to repay the electric company for damage to the road

Sues for $170

Thomas H Malley has filed suit in common pleas court for a judgment of $170 against Paul D Hoch and Clifford E Hoch which he claims is due him as salary earned while he was bookkeeper of the defendants South Prospect st garage

Malley states in his petition that he entered into an agreement with the defendants under which he was to draw a salary of $40 a week and bonus on cars sold The agreement, the petition states was to be effective for one year, beginning Jan 1 1928 It was cancellable by either party, however on 30 days notice

Malley states that he served as bookkeeper of the company until Nov 17 On Nov 1 he was informed, the petition states that his services were no longer needed The amount asked in the judgment includes bonuses of $3 on new cars and trucks and $1 on used cars and trucks sold by the company from Jan 1

Michael Strange (above), the former Mrs. Leonard Thomas and second wife of John Barrymore actor revealed at Chateau Gourdon at Bar-sur-Loup near Cannes that she obtained decree from him in August She expressed a wish for happiness of her ex-husband and his latest bride the former Dolores Costello

SEE BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS GROWING

New York—If building and loan associations, homestead associations and cooperative banks continue to grow at their present rate, they will have resources of $15 000 000 000 and will serve 10,000,000 members by 1932, according to a country wide survey made by George L. Bliss, vice president of the Franklin Society for Home Building and Savings of New York City.

In 1917 four persons in every 100 were using building and loan association, the survey states. In 1927 ten persons in every 100 were members, and by 1932 sixteen in every 100 will be saving in the building and loan, according to Bliss.
